Last Gemini Shot Will Blast Off Wednesday For Four-Day Mission

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — America's Gemini series reaches the end of the road Wednesday when the Gemini 12 astronauts blast off on a four-day mission which may determine man's physical limitations in space.

Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. spent today reviewing their flight plan and talking with Gemini officials as launch crews prepared for the double liftoff.

Note Weapon Is Issue in Dr. Sam Case

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The missing murder weapon in the 1954 slaying of Marilyn Sheppard remained an issue today as the murder trial of Samuel H. Sheppard went into a half-day session.

The jury of seven men and five women will be given the afternoon off by Common Pleas Judge Francis J. Talty so they can vote in the general election.

Introduce Theory
The theory that Marilyn was beaten to death with a surgical instrument was introduced into the retrial Monday by Dr. Samuel R. Gerber, Cuyahoga County coroner, who was the state's star medical witness in the first trial 12 years ago.

Sheppard, formerly an osteopath, was convicted in 1954 and served nine years in the Ohio Penitentiary before winning a retrial through federal courts.

Gerber said the murder weapon could have been a serrated-toothlike surgical instrument such as bone forceps.

During intensive cross-examination defense counsel F. Lee Bailey of Boston asked the coroner about a conversation Gerber supposedly had with a Dr. Max Don of Bay View Hospital June 4, 1954, a month before Marilyn was slain.

Denies Threat
"Did you ever say you were going to get the Sheppard family?" Bailey asked.
"No," Gerber replied. "Whoever says that is a liar. I deny it."

Lindsay Lashes 'Sleeper Clause' On Review Board

NEW YORK (AP) — After a bitter and costly campaign with racial overtones, New York City voters decide in a referendum today whether the civilian-dominated police complaint review board sponsored by Mayor John (V.) Lindsay should be retained.

In some parts of the city, interest in the referendum overshadowed even the gubernatorial election.

The new board — composed of four civilians and three members of the police department named by Lindsay and Police Commissioner Howard R. Leary, a Lindsay appointee — started functioning last July 1.

For many years, three deputy charges of brutality and other complaints against policemen.

The board makes recommendations to the police commissioner after looking into complaints. If the commissioner decides on action, as under the old system, an accused policeman (Continued on Page 11, Col. 6)

To Boost Atlas

An Atlas is to thunder skyward at 2:16 p.m. (EST) to boost an Agena satellite into orbit as a rendezvous target. A Titan 2 is to hurl the astronauts into space at 3:55 p.m.

The afternoon launchings were determined by three factors, lighting conditions required for the rendezvous; to avoid high radiation when Aldrin pokes his head outside the spacecraft at an altitude of 460 miles, and to place the astronauts in position Saturday to photograph a total eclipse of the sun over South America.

"Men and machinery are ready," a spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported.

The flight will close out the highly successful program which has tested all the techniques that American astronauts will use on Apollo man-to-the-moon flights. The first earth orbital flight of a three-man Apollo ship is scheduled early next year.

Plan Linkup
Highlights of the Gemini 12 mission will be a third-orbit rendezvous and linkup with the Agena, practicing many maneuvers that Apollo astronauts must make during their return trip from the moon, three work sessions outside the spacecraft by Aldrin, and photography of the eclipse and of a sodium cloud to be released high above the earth by a French rocket launched from Algeria.

The extravehicular activity by Aldrin will be the most important goal of the flight. The 36-year-old former Korean combat pilot is to spend nearly five hours performing tasks outside (Continued on Page 30, Col. 2)

Lions Announce Essay Contest on Peace for Youth

The youth of the Kingston area have been given a challenge to develop a plan for world peace by their local Lions Clubs — a challenge that could earn one of them a $25,000 education and/or career assistance grant.

Kingston and Hurley Lions Clubs, together with Lions Clubs throughout the world, is sponsoring a world-wide essay contest for the world's youth on the most important world subject today—Peace. The contest offers $50,000 in total awards, including the $25,000 first prize, eight semi-final world regional awards of $1,000 each and travel expenses for the eight winners to Chicago, Ill. in July, 1967. At that time, the first prize winner will be chosen from the eight. Also, more than 20,000 local, district and multiple district awards will be made.

Open to 14-21 Ages
"We are hopeful one of our young people will win this world-wide prestige award," President John L. Feldman of the Kingston Lions Club said in announcing the contest locally today.

The contest, open to young people who will be 14 but less than 22 years of age as of Jan. 15, 1967, was announced by the president of Lions International, Edward M. Lindsey, of Lawrenceburg, Tenn., during the Association's Annual International Convention in New York.

"The Peace Essay Contest is divided into eight world divisions," Lindsey said.

use in the "trustly room," eight cots have been placed in the large "bull pen" and two cots are in use outside the "bull pen" wing of the jail.

So desperate has space for county prisoners become that it was necessary to put one county prisoner in the Kingston city "lock-up."

Fourteen extra cots have been set up in the main jail wing corridor on the second floor. These prisoners sleep outside the cell block, a situation which creates anything but safety in the confinement of prisoners.

On the second floor of the main jail, in addition to the 14 extra cots which are outside the cell block but within the confined area, there are two additional cots outside the lock-up door in the main entrance corridor.

Meanwhile, 14 cells on the upper tier of the main jail second floor (Continued on Page 8, Col. 4)

Postpone Plan To Maneuver Moon Orbiter

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A planned midcourse maneuver for Lunar Orbiter 2, on its way to photograph the moon, was postponed early today when the craft lost its lock on the guiding star Canopus, a spokesman at Jet Propulsion Laboratory said.

Losses Contact With Star
The spokesman said the windmill-shaped, 850-pound spacecraft lost contact with Canopus about 7:20 a.m. He said scientists were attempting to re-establish contact.

N. Y. Election in Brief

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Voting hours: 6 a.m. to 9 p.m. in 13,170 election districts throughout the state.

Weather prediction: Generally cool and cloudy, with scattered showers Upstate.

Turnout: Registered voters number six million, and turnout could set a record for a non-presidential election.

—For governor, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller (Republican), Frank D. O'Connor (Democrat), Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. (Liberal), Paul L. Adams (Conservative).

—For comptroller, Charles T. Lanigan (R), Comptroller Arthur Levitt (D) (L), Benjamin R. Crosby (C).

—For attorney general, Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz (R), Frank A. Sedita (D), Simeon Golar (L), Mason L. Hampton (C).

—For chief judge of the Court of Appeals, Stanley L. Fuld, endorsed by all four major parties.

Other races on the ballot:
—For a 207-member State Legislature.
—For 41 U.S. representatives.
—For regional and at-large delegates to next year's State Constitutional Convention.

—For numerous local officials, including town supervisors, judges and district attorneys.

Questions, amendments and propositions:
—At least 12 questions, including whether a state lottery should be permitted and, in New York City, whether the civilian-dominated Police Review Board should be continued.

Report Vote Heavy to Spotty Throughout Sections of State

30 House Seats Possible

Strategists Say GOP Will Make Gains

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 59 million Americans decide today on the men and women who will make up the House, fill 35 Senate seats and occupy 35 governor's chairs.

The nonpresidential-year elections are almost as variable as the weather. Frustrations of the Viet Nam war, white reaction to racial disturbances, high cost of living irritation and the impact of President Johnson's "Great Society" programs provide an uncertain background for the balloting.

No Evidence of Trend
Nowhere in advance of tonight's countdown of votes was there any evidence of a national trend on these or any other issues.

Although a record off-year turnout seemed to be in the making, this was more a matter of the mathematics of population growth than of interest in a campaign that generally found voters apathetic to candidates' appeals.

There was tacit agreement among political strategists that Republicans will make some gains, as the party lacking a temporary lease on the White House customarily does in such elections.

Perhaps the GOP's greatest advances would come in governor contests, and in state legislative races where they were clobbered in the Barry Goldwater disaster of 1964.

The guessing was that Republicans might wind up with a net gain of five or six state executives, thus broadening their base for a 1968 attack on Johnson.

Surveys indicated Republicans might pick up in the neighborhood of 30 House seats to amend the massive 295-140 margin the Democrats held in the 89th Congress. Any turnover of this nature might fall most heavily on the 44 freshmen Democrats elected in 1964. At least 28 of them are reported in trouble.

Will Look For Trends In Returns

WASHINGTON (AP) — Political analysts studying election returns tonight will be looking for trends, the rise and fall of potential presidential nominees and the effect of such widely discussed subjects as the "white backlash" and the Viet Nam war.

Here are some areas to watch:

Areas to Watch
Trends Six bellwether House districts have reflected changes in congressional party lines over the past decade. The six are the Connecticut 4th, Pennsylvania 19th, Iowa 4th, Indiana 9th, Wisconsin 1st and Ohio 10th. They are among 44 House districts, currently represented by first-term Democrats, which were held by Republicans before 1964. Practically all of the 44 Democrats are solid supporters of the Johnson administration.

Congressional control — Democrats are assured of retaining Senate control and are expected to keep House control, but with a smaller majority than their current ratio of 295 to 140. A switch of just 25 House seats from pro-Johnson Democrats to anti-Johnson Republicans would have meant the defeat of such key Johnson domestic measures as Medicare, open housing, rent supplements and demonstration cities. Thus, even fewer GOP gains than the off-year average of 40 could mean Johnson might have to settle for a less ambitious domestic program over the next two years and might threaten funding for such approved programs as rent supplements and demonstration cities.

Could Boost Several
Effect on parties — Results might give a big boost to several Republicans prominently mentioned as presidential possibilities for 1968, including Govs. George Romney of Michigan and James A. Rhodes of Ohio. (Continued on Page 30, Col. 3)

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The tight gubernatorial battle between Republican Nelson A. Rockefeller and Democrat Frank D. O'Connor reached New York State voters today in mild weather, and the balloting was heavy in some places.

Early Pace Slow
The early - morning turnout ranged from heavy in New York City to extremely light in Buffalo. The pace was slowed by the number of candidates and items on the ballot.

Still, a record vote of about six million was expected in the neck-and-neck contest between O'Connor, career politician son of Irish immigrants, and millionaire Rockefeller, who says he only wants to retain the governorship and has no further presidential aims.

Voting reports in a spot survey by The Associated Press included:

Heavy in Four Cities
Albany and Rochester, spotty; New York City, Syracuse, Auburn and Glens Falls, heavy; Utica, light to moderate; Poughkeepsie, moderate; Cortland, steady; Schenectady and Buffalo, light.

Sees Overtones
Sen. Jacob K. Javits, who served as Rockefeller's campaign manager, saw national political overtones in the Rockefeller-O'Connor race.

The nation is watching, he said, to see how the "moderate" Republican governor fares in his contest, as compared with the fortunes of "conservative" Republican Ronald Reagan in California.

There was no clear favorite in the New York race. Voter preference polls gave Rockefeller and O'Connor about 40 percent of the vote apiece, with (Continued on Page 11, Col. 2)

Sears Will Use Unique Ribbon at Debut Tomorrow

A unique ribbon of material made by IBM will be used Wednesday morning to officially open the new Sears, Roebuck and Co. store in Kingston Plaza.

Robert G. March, manager of the store, when making today's announcement said, "we have departed from the traditional ribbon — and in its place we have a product which was developed and is being manufactured by one of our Kingston neighbors — IBM. It is called Flat Transmission Line Cable, and it constitutes a unique and essential part of all their computers."

The official opening ceremony for the new Sears store takes place at 9:30 Wednesday morning, Nov. 9, at the front of the store.

March will be officiating at the ceremony. Mayor Raymond W. Carraghan of Kingston; George W. Tamke, general manager of IBM, Kingston; G. Scott Alexander, vice-president of Kingston Plaza, Inc., developers of the center; and George Slivsky, president of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, will represent the local community behind the ribbon.

Reds Kidnap Entire Village Estimate GIs Kill 500 Charging Cong

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — American infantrymen battled an estimated 1,000 charging Viet Cong for four hours in Tay Ninh Province today and reported 302 enemy bodies counted after the fighting ended.

The battle resumed at 6 a.m. for troops of the U.S. 1st Division who lost contact almost completely Monday with the tough Viet Cong force that had battled American troops for four days.

Seize Arms, Hospital
U.S. officers at operational headquarters told Associated Press photographer John Nance tonight that 302 enemy bodies had been counted after the fighting ended, that large numbers of weapons, grenades and ammunition had been taken and that an 80-bed Viet Cong hospital had been found.

Associated Press correspondent John Lengel reported from the battlefield that some American officers estimated 500 of the enemy were killed today.

He reported one battalion of the 1st Division's 28th Regiment bore the brunt of the new fighting. American casualties were officially reported light.

In other scattered actions: An American spokesman said a Viet Cong force of unknown size moved into a village 75 miles southwest of Saigon at 2:30 a.m. Monday and kidnapped the entire population of 90 to 110 persons. There was no immediate explanation for the raid.

Uncover Three Camps
Units of the U.S. 101st Airborne and 4th Infantry divisions moved in on a major Communist stronghold in Phu Yen Province, about 230 miles northeast of Saigon. The American troops reported uncovering three enemy base camps, some of them equipped with fortified bunkers, and a first aid station with facilities for about 100 men. The Viet Cong had fled.

May Name Chavan To Rally Police After India Riot

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi was today reported preparing to name Defense Minister Y. B. Chavan, who reorganized the Indian army after its defeat by Red China in 1962, to do a similar job on India's beleaguered police forces.

Nanda Offers to Quit
A source close to Mrs. Gandhi said Home Minister Gulzari Lal Nanda, whose ministry controls the police and investigative agencies, had offered his resignation in the wake of New Delhi's rioting Monday, worst in nearly two decades.

Nanda, India's acting prime minister after the deaths of both Jawaharlal Nehru and Lal Bahadur Shastri, was blamed for failing to prevent the bloody rampage in the capital Monday. Seven persons were killed and 500 were injured as thousands of Hindus demanding a national ban on the slaughtering of cows roamed the streets in an orgy of arson, destruction and looting.

City officials estimated the damage at more than $1 million, including the burning of 250 cars, 100 motor scooters and six municipal buses.

Urges Cabinet Shift
With mob violence growing increasingly more frequent over the country, the executive committee of the ruling Congress party's parliamentary body took the government to task and censured Nanda. One of the party's most influential politicians, Atulya Ghosh, urged a major Cabinet reshuffle.

Armed soldiers and police patrolled New Delhi streets today after the government lifted an overnight curfew but schools and markets remained closed. (Continued on Page 8, Col. 6)

NEW AND OLD IN HIGH FALLS — Construction is progressing on the new bridge spanning the Coxenkill Creek at the entrance to High Falls Park in the Town of Rosendale. It is anticipated the bridge will be open to travel by the end of December. Some delay had been experienced in getting steel for the deck. However, the steel and forms are now in place and the construction company, William Van Kleeck and Sons of New Paltz, plans to push through to completion. The old bridge at left will be removed when building is finished. The old route had presented hazardous driving conditions particularly during the winter when the narrow span and sharp approaches were slippery with snow and ice. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Remove Hysterical Woman, Figure in Court Case Here

During the arraignment of prisoners in County Court Monday afternoon before County Judge Raymond J. Mino, the court was interrupted when Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Rossello, who is being held as a material witness in a first degree murder, became hysterical and had to be led from the court room.

As she was being led from the court room by attendants she turned and shouted allegations of "rottenness" at someone in the court room. Her speech was unintelligible as she was removed from the room. She did not return.

Mrs. Rossello, charged with first degree perjury, is the mother of Victor Rossello, 2½, who is alleged was killed at a Lake Katrine trailer park by Raymond G. Rickard Jr., and the body thrown from the Kingston Rhinecliff Bridge to the Hudson River in November 1964. Rickard is under indictment for first degree murder.

The Rickard case heads the November criminal calendar. He was in court Monday when Mrs. Rossello became hysterical.

When the Rickard case was called by District Attorney Joseph P. Torracca, counsel for Rickard, Francis Martocci and Joseph Saccoman, objected to Rickard being brought into court handcuffed. Judge Mino noted the objection and said the measure had apparently been taken by the sheriff as a security measure. He denied the application of counsel to remove the cuffs.

Motions are pending in the Rickard case and pending decision of these motions the case was placed on the ready calendar. Rickard was remanded to jail.

Several other prisoners were brought into court handcuffed. Objection was made by counsel to this procedure but Judge (Continued on Page 8, Col. 1)

Reward Goes Begging For Dead Crows

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP)—Residents of the picturesque town of Klang have a problem — crows — some 300,000 of them, by estimate.

A visitor can see them perched ready to swoop, on trees, walls and even on the gold-domed palace of the sultan. Hardest hit are the open air markets. "They dart down in swarms and steal anything before you can say shoo," one stallkeeper complained.

Housewives have had items snatched out of their hands. A municipal law says shooting below eye level is unlawful and it seems somebody told the crows. The sight of a gun brings them quickly to the ground.

The game warden has offered a reward of 30 cents per dead crow. So far this year only $6 has been paid.

3 Die in Crash Of Light Airplane

AUSTINVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Three residents of New York state died in the crash of their light plane in the northern tier Bradford County Monday.

State police withheld the names of the victims, two men and a woman, until the relatives could be reached. The plane, bound for Rochester, reportedly disintegrated in the air.

The plane was bound for home, said authorities, after a five-day trip in the Bahamas. It left Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Monday morning and had been in touch with the Williamsport, Pa., airport before the crash.

State police said the airport at Elmira, N.Y., received a message from the plane about 4:30 p.m. and 15 minutes later the crash was reported.

A witness, Barry Haver of Austinville, said he was working on a farm when he heard a noise, looked up and saw the plane "go all to pieces" in the air.

Parts of the disintegrated plane and the mutilated bodies were scattered over a wide area.

Rochester Airport said the plane, a twin-engine Beechcraft Bonanza, was registered to Page Airways Inc. of Rochester.

Hope to Snap Solar Eclipse in Gemini Flight

By RONALD THOMPSON
AP Aerospace Writer

MANNED SPACE CENTER. Houston, Tex. (AP)—As one stands in his seat and the other aims the spaceship at a hidden sun, the Gemini 12 pilots hope next Saturday to snap man's most revealing pictures of a solar eclipse.

The four-day Gemini 12 flight, by chance, offers the scientific community its first opportunity to obtain space photographs of the spectacular moments when the moon blocks the sun from view on earth.

Depends on Timing

Success, however, rests with split-second timing by Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. They must be at the right spot three days deep into their busy mission, then do the job in a matter of seconds.

On earth, the total eclipse can be seen for about 3½ minutes, but in space, with Gemini 12 whizzing around the globe 17,500 miles an hour, the astronauts will flick through the giant 52-mile wide shadow in seven seconds.

The eclipse, created by the moon passing between the earth and the sun, occurs early Saturday as Gemini 12 makes its 39th trip around the globe. The total blackout will be seen only over Peru, southern Bolivia, northern Argentina, southern Brazil and part of the Atlantic Ocean.

While the astronauts take pictures in space, scientists and astronomers from seven countries will chase the eclipse in high-flying jets. Altogether, about 24 planes with instruments from various countries will cruise the area to extend the period of observations.

Other Experiments Due

A variety of other experiments are planned. The Nimbus weather satellite will take pictures of the shadow created on earth while several small rockets and balloons gather data aloft.

The last total eclipse occurred May 30, 1965, but was only visible in remote areas of the Pacific Ocean.

Plans call for Aldrin to open his hatch and stand in his seat to click off quickly two pictures with a 70mm camera while Lov-

Buffalo Man Killed

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A 55-year-old truck driver, making a delivery on foot, was struck and killed Monday night by an automobile in suburban Cheektowaga, police say.

He was Frank Hinkley of Buffalo. The car's driver said he did not see Hinkley at an intersection because of darkness and stopped after he felt a bump, police reported.

ell aims the spacecraft directly at the sun during the seven-second period. Two strategically mounted movie cameras will run automatically.

Hopefully, the pictures will be more clear than any ever taken of such an event since at the altitude the astronauts fly, 185 miles, there is no atmosphere to mar the view.

How much money
CLOTHES DRYER
save you?

A clothes dryer plus permanent press clothes can produce big savings for your family. (The new no-iron fabrics are at their best when dried the modern way in an automatic Electric Dryer.)

That's not all — you don't need as much clothing, bedding, or linens when you have a modern dryer. You can save over $35 a year on clothes alone for a six-year old!

You save time, too. A busy house wife needs all the time she can get — and a dryer saves hours and hours of work weekly.

Last but not least, your clothes will last longer and dry fresher, without fading, fraying, or outside dirt and dust, when you dry with a Clothes Dryer.

DuBois Family Organizes, Names First Officers

The First DuBois Family Association Reunion was held at New Paltz on Huguenot Street. This is the first reunion of the whole family since 1875. The luncheon was held at the Old Fort, the DuBois Homestead.

Approximately 75 people were present and the Fort was just large enough to accommodate all those who wished to have lunch. By the time that the day was ended, Miss Emily Hoysradt, secretary of the family association said that membership had passed the 100 mark.

The photograph of the family group was taken by John Sutton of Modena at the front of the DuBois Homestead at 2 p. m.

President Warren C. DuBois opened the meeting at 2:15 in Deyo Hall.

An exhibit had been prepared by William Heidgerd, genealogist for the DuBois Family. Along with numerous records of the family, paintings of the old houses on the street, DuBois heirlooms and many publications were displayed. Of special interest were the items from the home of Miss Matilda Blake, which had belonged to Josiah DuBois. One item was a foot rail used in Pew No. 26 of the Second Stone Church.

Eugene DuBois brought maps and photographs taken on his trip to Europe where he had visited the area in which the DuBois family had lived before 1660.

Kenneth E. Hasbrouck explained to the group how the other family associations had been formed and a brief description of the general organization of the Huguenot Historical Society with its trustees, Duzine and family officers.

Mrs. Heidgerd told of her interest in lace making and explained the theory that the Huguenots may have brought their wealth out of France in lace.

The secretary's report was given by Miss Emily DuBois Hoysradt followed by the report of the treasurer, Henry W. DuBois.

As the DuBois Family Genealogy is going to be the largest work of any of the New Paltz families due to the great number of descendants, the suggestion was made that it be printed in some form after another year. A genealogy is never completed and the best one can hope for is that it be printed so that the original manuscript be made available to many people and libraries. It is hoped that people who have DuBois data will send it to William Heidgerd as soon as possible.

Officers elected were: Warren C. DuBois, president; Eugene DuBois, vice-president; Fred DuBois, vice-president; Miss Emily DuBois Hoysradt, secretary; Henry W. DuBois, treasurer. A Duzine will be appointed by the executive committee in the near future. The president appointed a committee to prepare Articles of Association and By-Laws.

Bevier - Elting Group Holds Paltz Meeting

The members of the Bevier-Elting Family Association met on Huguenot Street, New Paltz, recently for their annual luncheon and meeting. About 35 people attended.

The luncheon was held at the Old Fort, followed by the family photo, which was taken by the Homestead at 2 p. m.

In the absence of Allan U. Bevier, who was ill, the meeting was presided over by the vice-president, Kip C. L. Bevier. The meeting was held in the Deyo Assembly Hall.

Two items of special note on display this year were, the painting of Miss Isabelle Bevier, a founder of home economics in the United States, and a photo taken about 1896 of the Plymouth, Ohio Levers. Both items were seen in Plymouth, Ohio in August when Kenneth E. Hasbrouck visited there. The painting was given by Mrs. Nellie Bevier and the photo was given by Frank Bevier.

The business meeting was spent in discussion of improvements needed for the house, methods of raising more funds and increasing membership. Mrs. Anna Hanlon heads the membership committee. Mrs. Paul Kurtz gave the secretary's report and Louis Bevier gave a complete treasurer's report with emphasis upon the need for more pledges and funds for maintenance. Thus far it has been mainly a few people who have been meeting the needs of the house. Following the meeting there was a reception held in the Bevier-Elting House.

BRIDGE

Early Thinking Brings Success

By Oswald & James Jacoby Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

"Haste makes waste" is an adage that might well have been meant to apply to bridge. We don't recommend slow play but we know that careful planning at the start of play will actually speed up your game since you won't have to waste time later on trying to recover from early carelessness.

South's first thought was to lead a trump at trick two. He could draw trumps with two leads, concede a spade trick and eventually throw two spades or dummy's ace and king of diamonds and ruff the last remaining spade. Then he noted that West might hold all three trumps and that he could guard against this by leading out ace and another spade. He did it and when both opponents followed to the second spade South was able to ruff two spades in dummy and set up his last spade. He never tried to get a discard on a diamond. He didn't need one because he had made his own hand good.

If South had played just one trump he would not have been able to make his contract. If he tried to establish two spade ruffs West would gain the lead with his king of spades and lead a second trump.

It is interesting to note that if West had opened a trump South should still make the hand. He would go after spades. A second trump lead by West would hold South to one spade ruff but he would run off all his trumps and wind up with a diamond-spade squeeze against East.

Air Force Admits Bright Light on Cong Won't Work

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Air Force was a bit premature in boasting it had a new light that robbed the Viet Cong of the advantage of darkness.

"No longer can Charlie (the Viet Cong), operate as a phantom under the cover of darkness," declared Maj. Gen. M.C. Demler, the Air Force research chief, at a Washington conference in late September.

A spokesman in Saigon asked to see the new device in action aboard a plane. An Air Force spokesman said it wasn't operating.

It was tried out for about a month in July, the spokesman said, but "it developed a few bugs." The device is called AGIL — airborne general illumination light. Demler said it puts out 6 million candlepower and from a 12,000-foot altitude can cover a 15-mile area with light "four times that of a full moon." The spokesman here did not give details on the troubles which had developed. He said an evaluation report has been sent to Washington.

NOTES FROM A DRIVER'S LOG

A motorist who makes a practice of noting such things has returned from an extended tour with these observations:

Traffic is not only growing steadily heavier but steadily faster. Our traveler kept tab in one three-mile stretch of turnpike driving. Zooming along at the maximum legal speed, he was passed by 32 cars, three huge trucks and a bus. Some of them made him feel as though he was standing still.

Frequent warning signs that the roads were radar-patrolled and that speed limits were strictly enforced were greeted with enthusiastic indifference by motorists. And on the entire trip, our man saw only two instances of drivers being stopped by state patrolmen.

Women are driving just as fast and just as recklessly as men. This, our observer says, wasn't the case a few years ago.

Only a few of the cars traveling at excessive speeds were new, expensive models. Most were small foreign jobs or lower-priced models several years old. And they weren't all driven by young people.

He was intrigued to find that time after time his steady, within-legal limits pace enabled him to catch up with hotrodders who had passed him with a whoosh miles back. He doesn't know how it could happen but it did.

Many of the most reckless drivers he saw were mothers or fathers with kids in the car.

The most common traffic annoyance he endured was tailgating—even on the turnpikes. It is definitely the "in" thing in bad motor manners.

Our traveler returned home convinced that the one thing that could make motor travel more pleasant is a little more courtesy behind the wheel. He said it was wonderful to see what happened when one driver gave another driver a break—especially when it was accompanied by a smile.

He might have added that the same formula works fine in other things, too.

RAIL SPEED GOAL

We Americans must eat a portion of humble pie when it comes to railroading. The quality of rail passenger service has deteriorated markedly during recent years, and when it comes to speed we are badly outclassed.

The latest indication of this comes, appropriately, from Japan. That nation has for some time operated the world's fastest scheduled passenger service—the 320 miles between Tokyo and Osaka in four hours, which means hitting 125 miles per hour on some stretches. Now the Japanese National Railways Corp. announces that it plans expresses which will cut that time to two and a half hours by 1970.

It is expected that the new train will be able to cruise at 155, and hit 10 m.p.h. faster than that when necessary. That sounds like flying when compared with the relatively sluggish pace of America's crack trains, not to mention those that limp and wheeze their tedious way across the countryside.

There is a difference, it must be noted, between a run of two or three hundred miles and the great distances that our transcontinental trains must cover. It is not feasible to maintain 1,000 miles or more of track so that it can handle trains running at 100 m.p.h. and better. But this does not apply on some of the short runs in our densely populated regions. There the feats of the Japanese might be matched.

Projects are afoot to do that, or at any rate come close to it, on some inter-city runs. A few years hence, swift and comfortable movement by rail between some of the nations' great cities will be commonplace if these efforts are forwarded with vigor. The Japanese have given us a goal to shoot for.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

THE LIONS ARE ON OUR SIDE

To the West, the East African state of Tanzania, the former United Republic of Tanganyika and Zanzibar, has been a puzzle. Its President, Julius Nyerere, a pleasant, humorous man who is anything but a demagogue, was British-educated (on a scholarship at Edinburgh), and is famous for having said that it would be wrong "to distinguish between Tanganyikan citizens on any ground other than character and ability." Yet he has bothered the West by letting Chinese Communists come into his country. To the Western interviewers he makes light of his tolerance of the Reds by saying it is only "a slight movement toward redressing the balance" that is necessary to achieve "non-alignment."

Nyerere might be a worrisome character, but if you talk with the philosophical John Owen, the quiet Englishman who is director of Tanzania's great national parks, you get a curious perspective on the East African future. Owen, who quit a business job in Britain to become the conservator of vast herds of zebra, gazelle, elephants and other exotic animals as they roam through Serengeti and other East African preserves, is in the United States on a mission designed to raise enough money to increase the number of Tanzanian national parks from five to ten. Mr. Owen doesn't talk politics, but from everything he says it is obvious that the animals of East Africa are on the Free World's side. The lions, the leopards, the hyenas and the wildbeests must, by their very existence as Tanzania national assets, keep President Julius Nyerere from committing his country to the mercies of either Peking or Moscow.

To put the matter vulgarly, Tanzania is in international show business, and such business requires audiences with passports and with money to spend. With its magnificent display of wild life that can be "hunted" by park visitors armed with cameras and traveling safely in Land Rovers, Tanzania has one of the really great tourist attractions in the world. As Mr. Owen puts it, the tide of tourism "is now lapping the shore of East Africa where it is already the fourth largest earner of foreign currency. The National Parks are the main attraction, and their future can be assured by tourism which will, at the same time, provide an invaluable boost to Tanzania's economy. Within a few years' time, the Parks should be self-financing for visitors' fees."

There was a time, so Mr. Owen admits, when Tanzania's didn't quite know what a potential bonanza they had in their wild land. The Serengeti National Park was regarded more or less as a white man's diversion, run by white men for the benefit of foreigners. Moving pictures of the great game herds were shown with the accompanying commentary in English. But Mr. Owen and his colleagues conceived the bright idea of sending a Masai tribesman to Yellowstone Park in the United States to have a look at brown bears against a background of spouting geysers. The resulting picture was brought back to Tanzania with a running commentary in Swahili.

Thus it was demonstrated to Tanzanians that great national parks could be a source of pride to a nation. President Julius Nyerere, who is nobody's fool, didn't take a minute to catch on. Since independence, Tanzania has established four new parks, making five in all. He noted that a London art auction house for three-and-one-half square inches of a Van Eyck painting. The Ford Foundation in America has led the way in giving Mr. Owen the support he needs to campaign for park funds.

By committing itself to the business of showing animals, Tanzania must discover that it has committed itself to the idea of an open world. "Hic sunt leones" (or "here are lions") used to appear on the old maps of Africa. The East Africans must inevitably find that where lions are, there Communists aren't. Diet and Drugs Can Help Control Overperspiration

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—What would cause a man to have drenching sweat at night? He may sweat three or four nights in a row, then be dry for a few nights.

A—Night sweats are commonly seen in persons who have tuberculosis but they usually occur every night. Other possibilities include a deficiency of vitamin C or D, nightmares which may be due to a variety of causes, a general run down condition or, according to some authorities, a decrease in male hormone (male menopause). The treatment is to remove the cause if it can be found.

Q—My soon, 18, has excessive sweating of his hands. What causes this and what can be done for it?

A—Sweating limited to or chiefly on the palms is usually caused by instability of the nervous control of the blood vessels in the skin. When the surrounding air is warm or the victim is emotionally keyed up, these blood vessels dilate and sweating occurs.

The antiperspirants applied to the armpits will not control this type of sweating. Your son should avoid coffee and other drinks that contain caffeine. Propantheline bromide, obtainable only on a doctor's prescription, has helped some persons with this complaint.

Q—What will make one's clothing turn yellow from sweat?

A—In persons who are not jaundiced, yellow sweat may be caused by the invasion of the sweat glands by certain harmless bacteria or, usually, by the change of life. Such side effects as nausea, a sense of fullness in the breasts, headache and abdominal distress can usually be controlled by adjusting the dosage to your individual needs.

Q—What are streptomycin shots for? What effect do cortisone shots have on lung viruses?

A—The chief use of the antibiotic, streptomycin, is in the treatment of tuberculosis. Cortisone has no direct effect on any kind of virus but is given to reduce inflammation. It is also used with streptomycin in the treatment of tuberculosis.

Please send your question and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Washington News

AN LOC, Viet Nam — (NEA)

Police Chief Young Van Hoa took me along on his third night raid in three days—all on French rubber plantation hamlets.

The chief had hard information that Vietnamese rubber workers in these hamlets had been harboring Viet Cong, supplying them with food and making sizable contributions to the Communist organization.

The chief was up and starting operations at 3 a. m. At 4:30, 81 police, lined up in the dark police compound, were listening to detailed instructions on what each man's job would be on the door-to-door house check for Viet Cong.

Elements of the Vietnamese army's Fifth Division surrounded the hamlet at 5 a. m. to make certain no VC escaped.

Then the police drove into the hamlet in a convoy of three trucks and three jeeps. One police group included men in their squad as they went house-to-house, checking identity cards and family photos and searching in and around the houses for hidden men.

The first shot came early. It was a Fifth Division soldier firing at someone apparently attempting to sneak out of the hamlet. There were several more shots before the check was over.

Forty-four suspects were rounded up in the raid. They were largely young men and women without identity cards or not registered as living in the hamlet. Some had identity cards which apparently had been altered. Some had cards that didn't seem to match up with the bearers.

All this has some meaning in the control of the Viet Cong.

According to U. S. and Vietnamese government theory, if every citizen is registered in his own hamlet, if there is a family photo in every hamlet house and if every Vietnamese carries an identity card and informs the police when he moves or travels, then it will be possible to separate the Viet Cong from the loyal citizenry.

According to this theory:
● The Viet Cong will no longer be able to sneak in and sleep with their relatives and rest up, supply themselves with food and information as they have been wont to do.

● They will no longer be able to move from hamlet to hamlet undetected.

● If a man is registered in his hamlet and is not there when the raid takes place and if he hasn't notified the police he's going to be away, then the police ask questions.

A great deal of time and effort are being put into this program.

But there are several things to be noted. Though the police raid started at 3 a. m., the police didn't get out to the hamlet until after 5 a. m. The roundup wasn't completed until 7 o'clock. There wasn't a very accurate check on who wasn't there; it was mostly a check of identity cards. A considerable number of people seemed to go off to work without being checked.

A Viet Cong staying overnight would likely have been up and off by 4 a. m. He likely would have had warning the hamlet would be raided.

It is usually necessary to tell a number of officials and the army before such raids take place. Word usually gets passed around as to which hamlet is on the night's raid list. For one thing, an army commander may order his troops to stay out of the hamlet that night. Troops mention this kind of thing to their relatives. The VC thus usually hear about raids in time to escape.

Worse yet, there's really no reason why a Viet Cong can't pick up an identity card. Unless he's a known Communist, he can register like anyone else. He may have problems, but there are solutions. If a VC travels, there's no reason why he can't notify the police, forgetting to tell them the real reason he's traveling. Of course, and omitting mention of some stops along the way.

Cabinet-Type Rule Is Seen As Presidential Power Grows

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Every time a President gets sick or goes to the hospital for an operation, people become worried about what may happen if he were to be incapacitated for any length of time. The American Presidential system in this respect is plainly inadequate. Although warning signals have often been given, nothing has been done to accomplish a satisfactory transition of Presidential power whether it be for one day or week or month or longer.

A constitutional amendment, which now is pending, and which needs ratification by seven more states for adoption, deals with situations arising from temporary disability, but the plan proposed by a Vice-President suddenly into executive power when he really isn't thoroughly familiar with the confidential documents and background relating to all the important problems which will face him immediately.

In contrast, the British and Canadian Parliamentary systems take care of any similar emergencies because the Cabinet, and not one man, is responsible to the country. Inside of the Cabinet, every member is familiar with the day-by-day operations of the government, and an acting Prime Minister can take over in a few minutes. This maintains public confidence and assures absolute continuity until such time as an election may provide a change of leadership or party.

Under the American system, the vice president has duties that are largely ceremonial or political. He is supposed to preside over the Senate, and does so infrequently. He may attend cabinet sessions, but under Presidents Kennedy and Johnson, these meetings have been held only occasionally.

How can a vicepresident suddenly assume the duties of a president and acquire an intimate knowledge of every important question on which a decision has to be made? In a nuclear age, action might have to be taken within minutes or hours, and it is not possible to familiarize anybody with the essentials of crucial matters in such a brief time.

Even apart from the problem of how to handle the transfer of presidential power in case of a long or short illness of the Chief Executive, a serious and unresolved question is whether any one man should ever wield the powers that a President of the United States does today. If, instead, ten of the best qualified men in the country within the president's party were chosen for the cabinet and were not bogged down with administrative duties, the Chief Executive would have at his side constantly a group of advisers well informed on national and international policies.

In will be argued that the President does have special aides at the White House to whom he delegates much of his work. But they are responsible only to him and not to the Congress or the country. They are hand-picked assistants who too often are interjected between the President and the heads of departments.

As population grows and federal budgets run to billions of dollars each year, the United States Government—the largest business in the world—can hardly be expected to function effectively under one man. This is not related solely to sudden illnesses which may incapacitate him but to the increased number of decisions that Congress has been delegating to the Chief Executive to make.

The cabinet system abroad is government by a group, rather than by any one individual. The old saying that "two heads are better than one" was never better illustrated than under the cabinet system in vogue now in several countries of the world. The idea of applying the parliamentary concept, at least in part, in the United States is not new. Back in 1913 Woodrow Wilson, just before his inauguration as President, addressed a letter to the majority leader of the House of Representatives discussing presidential tenure. He predicted then that someday the United States would have to adopt a formula of cabinet responsibility to Congress and the country, somewhat like the parliamentary system abroad. The need for more attention to this reform is being demonstrated again today.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

I received a very interesting booklet of Old Concord, Mass. It was published by John M. Keyes, and printed in 1909 by C. B. Webster & Co., Boston, Mass. It was sent to me by Mrs. G. W. Gunning of Hurler. Perhaps, now that Urban Removal is going on in Kingston, not only in Rondout but all over so it seems, this October and November of 1966, such an illustrated booklet could be published so that future generations will know what was once here. School No. 3 went down first in this conception of progress of 1966; the plaque reading, "erected 1868" was destroyed. One man told me a chisel and a little patience could have saved it. I was sorry to see the plaque from the county clerk's and surrogate's office was also destroyed. I spoke about it to local historians, but that too, was smashed. The roundhouse at St. James Court is another landmark of the bricklayer's craft, and could have been made into a museum. For years this building has been of interest, but little was known about it, except that it was known as the place where gas was made. One historian said recently, that little by little Kingston is turning into one big picking lot.

This little illustrated 1909 booklet on Concord, Mass., shows the home of Louisa May Alcott, Nathaniel Hawthorne, Ralph Waldo Emerson and Henry D. Thoreau, and the location of the invasion by the British soldiers from which "The Ride of Paul Revere" was written. Now in 1966, who knows how many of these Concord landmarks still remain since this book was published in 1909. Sometimes it makes me wonder, just who is behind the destruction and demolition by bulldozer of our early buildings in Kingston and elsewhere. Why should acres of these taxable buildings be removed without giving them a chance, buildings like School No. 3 built in 1868 — two more years to be a century old. Perhaps School No. 3 could have turned into a taxable building, like No. 1 in Wilbur.

I feel more and more the readers are not in favor of many of these old type of buildings to come down, and perhaps the land to stand idle, as is Meadow Street at this present time. If I remember correctly, the people were ordered to move from there around 1955. It has been a field ever since. It should have been used at least for cattle, as the grass is as green as the expensive grass around the Ulster County Office Building uptown. Some of my readers liked the saying of Kingston, N. Y., was burned twice by the Indians, once by the British (Oct. 16, 1777) and now in 1966, also in October was begun the wholesale destruction of some 300 buildings, which will go into the record for all time. In Concord's book of 1909 they show the Battle Monument, erected in 1836. A drawing of the birthplace of Henry Thoreau is shown with its dry large stone wall around it. The old Concord DAR Chapter House is shown with a picket fence. The grave of British soldiers buried near the famous old North Bridge, with four concrete posts and chains around it. Wayside, the home of Hawthorne. We have and had many large wooden houses like the home of Louisa May Alcott, author of "Little Women." Sleepy Hollow Cemetery, showing Emerson's Boulder, is in the book. We should have a book showing the Vanderlyn Monument in Wilkwyck Cemetery. The home of Ephraim Bull, originator of the Concord Grape, is shown. In 1909 it needed repair, with its strange roof which slants from the top right down to nearly the ground and some grape vines around it so it seems. The Old North Bridge and the Minute Man's Monument is shown as a wooden structure, but closed to traffic, with just a wooden rail fence. Most of our landmarks are in bluestone and brick which are now coming down for Urban Removal.

Quick Quiz

Q—In what city were followers of Christ first called Christians?

A—After the church had been established at Jerusalem, the apostles set forth to convert both Jews and Gentiles at other places. It was at Antioch, Syria, where they were first called Christians.

Q—Has an Englishman ever been Pope of the Roman Catholic Church?

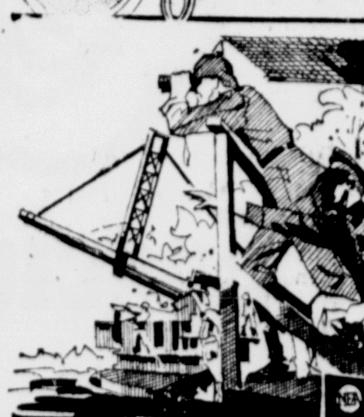

A—Only one, Pope Adrian IV, elected in 1154.

Q—In forestry what is meant by deciduous and coniferous?

A—Deciduous means leaf-dropping. Coniferous means cone-bearing. (Newspaper Enterprise Association)

Warn Motorists About Renewal Of Registration

Motor Vehicle Commissioner William S. Hult again today reminded motorists to check the date on which their present vehicle registration expires under the state's new staggered system.

Those whose registrations would have expired on Oct. 31 have, by virtue of an extension requested by Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller, until midnight, Nov. 15 to renew without providing new proof of insurance.

Those with registrations expiring on Nov. 30 have until that date to renew without providing the new insurance documents. All owners of automobiles or trucks of 1961 or earlier model whose registrations expire in November also must show proof of inspection before registration will be renewed.

Punch card invitations to renew were mailed about five weeks in advance to owners with October and November expirations. A second "updating" mailing was made about a week later. Commissioner Hult said all October and November invitations should now have been delivered in the mail, and anyone with a registration expiration during either of these months, who has not yet received a punch card, should contact his local motor vehicle office to arrange for renewal.

"The renewal procedure is simple, even without a punch card," Commissioner Hult explained, "and no one who acts promptly should encounter any inconvenience or delay in renewing."

Farm Income Up By $4.4 Billion In Past 6 Years

Realized net farm income in the U. S. has jumped from $11.7 billion in 1960 to an estimated $16.1 billion for 1966, according to Joseph Sauer, chairman of the Ulster County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, 54 John Street.

"Today," Sauer said, "one-third fewer people on farms, harvesting one-ninth fewer acres of cropland, produce one-fifth more than 10 years ago. This means that the larger net income for 1966 is being divided among fewer people and averages more than $1,750 per farm across the U. S."

"The increase in net farm income is reflected in other gains. As an example, government grain storage charges have been reduced by $640,000 a day through reaching our goal of putting grain surpluses to reserves levels two years ahead of schedule. In addition, we have established a favorable balance in our agricultural trade of more than $2.2 billion annually, thus adding strong support to our over-all payments balance. As a matter of fact, our agricultural exports exceed by 100 million dollars a year the leading category of U. S. industrial exports, namely, motor vehicles and tractor parts."

Sauer said he was pleased to note that the U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced a four dollar minimum price support for manufactured milk products for the next 18 months. "This minimum support price assures dairymen in our state a firm demand for their milk during the next year and a half and permits them to plan ahead with a degree of confidence in the market."

Quebec Trio Pleads Innocent, Bogus Bills

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Three Quebec residents pleaded innocent Monday to charges of possessing and passing counterfeit $10 Canadian bills in the Saratoga Springs - Glens Falls area last month.

The three — Roland Masson, 39, Louise Pepin, 34, both of Montreal, and Ovide Allard, 48, of Aston Junction — entered the pleas before Judge James T. Foley in U. S. District Court. They were indicted on the charges by a federal grand jury Oct. 26.

The trio was arrested in Saratoga Springs Oct. 18. State Police said the Canadians had been in the area about a week and that approximately $1,200 in bogus bills had been reported passed in that time.

The three were returned to Albany County Jail.

Public Hearings Slated for Two State Streams

ALBANY—Public hearings will be held to consider upgrading classes of waters in the Lower Genesee River Drainage Basin and a section of Cattaraugus Creek, Dr. Hollis S. Ingraham, State Health Commissioner, said today in his semi-monthly Pure Waters Program Report.

These hearings, to be conducted by the State Water Resources Commission, are part of Governor Rockefeller's Pure Waters Program to end pollution of State surface waters.

The classification hearing for the Cattaraugus Creek Drainage Basin will be held in Gowanda Village Hall, Gowanda Nov. 21 at 11 a. m. The hearing for the Lower Genesee River Basin will be held at the City Public Safety Building, Civic Center Plaza in Rochester Nov. 22 at 9:30 a. m.

The semi-monthly report noted also that the enforcement phase of the Pure Waters Program scheduled an additional 58 polluters for hearings during the recent period. This brings the total to 293 polluters notified since the Program began in September, 1965. The State Health Commissioner, who administers the Pure Waters Program, issued orders against four polluters during the latest semi-monthly period to bring the total to 157 since the Program's beginning.

Dr. Ingraham also announced two more construction aid grants approved as part of the Pure Waters Program during the semi-monthly period. A grant of $183,000 has been approved for construction of a sewage treatment plant and system of interceptor sewers in the Village of Weedsport, Cayuga County. The system will give this village of 1,750 its first municipal sewage treatment plant and eliminate flow of untreated waste into Cold Spring Brook, a tributary of waterways that flow into Lake Ontario.

The second grant was for $56,040 to enlarge the treatment plant serving the Jefferson Heights sewer district in the Monroe County Town of Pittsford.

The New York State Pure Waters grant pays for 30 per cent of the eligible cost of these facilities. The Federal program also contributes 30 per cent. The State, under the Pure Waters Program, will pre-finance the Federal share so the total cost to the community will be 40 per cent.

Finishes Army Course

Specialist Fourth Class Norman H. Good, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman R. Good, Esopus, completed an 11-week machinist course at the Army Ordnance Center and School Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md., Oct. 21.

Spec. Good was trained to manufacture, repair and modify parts for tanks, trucks, weapons and other combat equipment.

Praised on Aid

FLORENCE, Italy (AP)—American college students — including New York State residents — were the objects of praise today as they helped with rescue work and clean-up in this flood-stricken city.

"There are just a few hundred of them, I think, but there seems to be thousands," Deputy Mayor Lelio Lagorio said. "I wish we had more like them here."

The students were on study programs from institutions that included Syracuse University and Smith College in Northampton, Mass.

Among them were Earl W. Kells of Lewiston, N.Y., north of Niagara Falls, and James B. Handwerker and Ellen B. Tobey, both of New York City.

SAUGERTIES NEWS

Lynn Whiteford Set Fall Dinner Heads Freshmen Later This Year

Elections of freshman class officers of Saugerties High School were held recently. Twenty-one students were nominated and the following five were the winners: president, Lynn Whiteford; vice-president, Nancy Bruno; treasurer, Stan Rosenberg; secretary, Sheryl Lemoine; social director, Lorraine DiGiacomo.

A total of 255 votes were cast on a new, regulation voting machine on loan to the school through the courtesy of the Town of Saugerties. Voting was conducted in class groups after students had been instructed in use of the machine by Social Studies teachers, Richard Smith and Edward Ehrman. During the two weeks prior to the elections, nominees conducted exciting campaigns. Printed cards were distributed and many colorful posters were displayed. Peter Williams, Town Supervisor, attended the election activities. He also addressed two groups of students on the duties of citizenship.

Students feel that the democratic elections got the year's activities off to a good start.

Hysterical . . .

Mino held the fact that the prisoners were handcuffed was not prejudicial and he declined to order the cuffs removed.

Placed on the trial calendar for selection of a jury on Wednesday was the indictment charging Charles E. Eastment and James Peter LeBeau, with burglary, unlawful entry, grand larceny, criminally receiving and concealing and withholding stolen property as a felony. They are charged with entering a Pine Grove Avenue building in Kingston.

David Howard France, 43, of Saugerties, entered a plea of guilty to entering a Woodstock liquor store and taking a bottle of wine. France also is charged with unlawful entry to a hardware store shed in Woodstock under a second indictment. He was sentenced to six months in jail with credit for time served. John Gotelli appeared for France in both cases and the plea was taken to cover both indictments.

Robert James Gebro, charged with grand larceny and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle, entered a plea of guilty to unauthorized use of motor vehicle last July 19. Imposition of sentence was postponed to Nov. 16 at 10 a. m. David Barnovitz appeared for defendant.

John Franklin Tarter, indicted on a third degree assault charge and attempting to prevent an officer from performing his duty, pleaded guilty to the assault charge. He will be sentenced Nov. 30, at 10 a. m. H. Clark Bell appeared for defendant.

Marin, also known as Sol Moran, charged with grand larceny and forgery, entered a plea of guilty to second degree grand larceny, and the case adjourned to Nov. 16 at 10 a. m. Elmor Nathan appeared for defendant.

A grand larceny, first degree, indictment against Robert Gallagher was dismissed on motion of William Gruner, counsel for defendant.

David Frederick Merrill, 23, of Schenectady, charged with possession of burglar's instruments, pleaded guilty to the charge as a misdemeanor. The incident took place July 18. He was given 120 days in jail with credit for time served. Joseph Hill appears for defendant. There is a detainer on the sheriff's office for Merrill from another county.

Josephine Kahn, charged with burglary, unlawful entry and petit larceny, entered a plea of guilty to unlawful entry. The case was adjourned to Nov. 30 at sentence.

Thomas O'Dell, 16, an inmate at Elmira, was arraigned on a charge of third degree burglary, unlawful entry and petit larceny. He pleaded guilty to the charge. He will be returned to Elmira and sentence will be imposed after a pre-sentence report is received from the probation department.

Willie Oliver Jr., 23, Poughkeepsie, charged with second degree grand larceny and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle, alleged to have taken place on July 12, entered a plea of guilty to unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and was given six months in the county jail with credit for time served. William Gruner appeared for defendant.

Two Assigned Counsel
In the case of Wesley Allen Brown, 31, of Spencerville, Md., one of the two men involved in the shooting of Trooper Stanley Kowalk at Napanoch on October 6, last, Brown was arraigned for the purpose of assignment of counsel. Michael J. Cooper of Rosendale was assigned. Brown is charged with first degree grand larceny and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. In a second indictment he is charged with first degree assault; criminal possession of a loaded revolver; illegal possession of a firearm as a felony and illegal possession of a stimulant drug. Brown was picked up shortly after the shooting after he and his companion had attempted to flee.

Ray Edison Davis, 25, Texas, who was captured after an intensive manhunt, is charged with attempted burglary, first degree; third degree burglary; unlawful entry and petit larceny, as well as the same charges as his companion, Brown, first degree assault, criminal possession of a loaded pistol and illegal possession of a firearm as a felony and possession of a stimulant drug. He was assigned William C. Mullaney as counsel.

A number of other cases came before the court and were adjourned to future dates.

Court recessed until 10 a. m. Wednesday.

List 12 Winners In AEW Contests

As part of the American Education Week observance, Saugerties Teachers Association sponsored an essay and poster contest. Central theme for the week this year was "Education Adds Up." Students in grades 5-12 were encouraged to participate and many fine essays and posters were submitted for consideration.

The results of the contest were: best essay in Senior High, Mary Bean; runner-up, Ross Neher; best essay in Junior High, Michaela Graham; runner-up, Kathy Eckerlein; best essay in Grades 5 and 6, Clifford Ferraro, runner-up, Gary Kutcher.

Best poster in Senior High, William Ryan, runner-up, Robert Brogan; best poster in Junior High, Amy Bragg, runner-up, Janice Welton; best poster in Grades 5 and 6, Clifford Ferraro, runner-up, Debbie Madden.

The president of Saugerties Teachers Association, Richard Smith, awarded pins and letters of commendation to the winners.

Jaynees Donate $100 to Library

On behalf of the Saugerties Jaynees, Mrs. Michael E. Catalinotto, chairman of the Library Committee, presented a $100 check to Mrs. Leighton of the Saugerties Public Library this week. This donation will be used to purchase beginner's reading books.

After attending a meeting sponsored by the League of Women Voters last spring, the Jaynees became aware of the library's needs.

Mrs. Richard Carini chaired a successful campaign to sell Halloween candy to Saugerties residents, making it possible to make this donation.

The Jaynees express their gratitude to all residents who purchased Halloween candy.

Election Day
November 8, 1966

Delegates-at-Large
Editor, The Freeman

I voted at 6:30 a. m. this morning. I was especially interested in election this year because of the selection of the three delegates from the 38th Senatorial District and the 15 at-large candidates to the Constitutional Convention.

The reason I was especially interested in these delegates was because I felt this selection . . . their beliefs and intentions . . . would affect myself and loved ones for many years to come. Therefore, to put it mildly, I was disgusted when I saw the difficulty in "splitting" my vote for these 15 candidates. I know that due to this difficulty people did not vote this section at all.

In my voting booth I found it impossible to even lift the gadget to paste in my candidate's name. I was probably from lack of use. The slip was so small and the names so minute it was laborious to read, much less to cross out and signify one's choice. (I took from 15-20 minutes to cast my vote which under favorable conditions would have taken three minutes . . . and even now I'm not certain my vote will "register".)

It is my most fervent hope that the November 8th election of the at-large candidates to the Constitutional Convention be declared null and void and that it will be necessary for another vote to be taken by ballot.

Sincerely,
MISS JOAN L. WOJNOSKI

Film, Not Camera

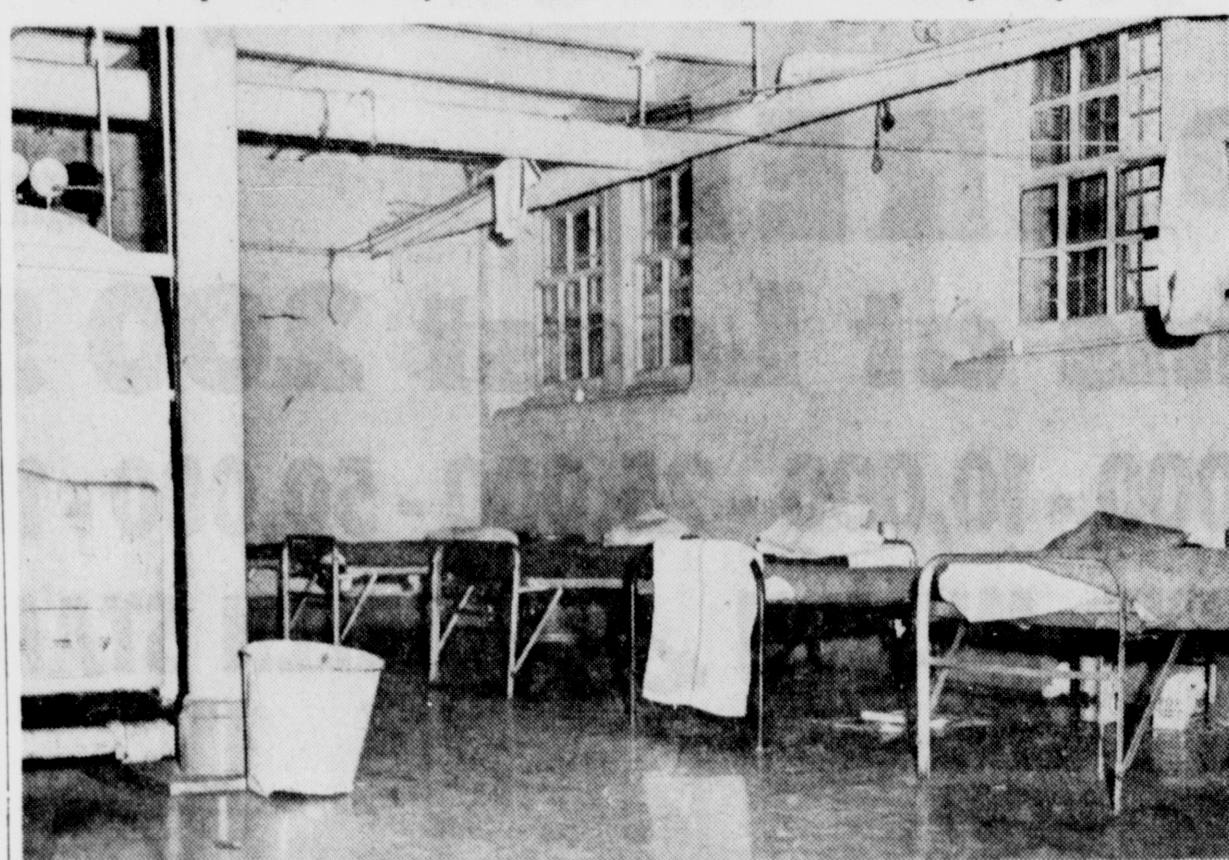

In the Shop-Rite advertisement appearing in Monday's Freeman a $188 color movie camera priced at $188 should have read color movie film at that price, complete with processing.

Fall Kills Prisoner

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — An Oklahoma county jail prisoner, Steve Lloyd Harold, 22, was killed Sunday when he fell five stories after a makeshift rope broke during an attempted escape.

SLEEP OUTSIDE CELLS—These prisoners shown here must sleep outside a cell due to the severe lack of space in the County Jail. Sheriff Martin expressed deep concern over the safety situation not only to the public but to the prisoners themselves. (Freeman photo by Kruh.)

COTS IN BOILER ROOM—Conditions are so crowded that cots have been set up in the boiler room of the Ulster County Jail. Sheriff William B. Martin has been forced to use the women's section of the jail to house some of the male prisoners. (Freeman photo by Kruh.)

Dirty Campaign Tactics Charged In Connecticut

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Charges of dirty campaign tactics, capped by the threat of a libel suit against leading Democrats, highlighted the Connecticut election for governor and lieutenant governor, secretary of state, attorney general, comptroller, and treasurer.

Also to be elected today were six congressmen, 36 state senators, 177 state representatives, eight sheriffs — one in each county — and 124 probate judges.

All six incumbent congressmen are Democrats.

The polling hours are 6 a. m. to 7 p. m. Over one million of Connecticut's 1,300,000 registered voters were expected to cast ballots.

The threat of libel suits was made Monday by Clayton Genras, the Republican candidate for governor, who was angered by the publication of a 3-year-old New York State Insurance Department "citation" in which he was summoned to answer a charge of being "an untrustworthy person within the contemplation of the New York Insurance Law."

The citation was published as a political advertisement by the Committee for Frassinelli (Attilio R. Frassinelli, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor) in Sunday and Monday newspapers.

Genras called it "the most shocking display of cheap, unprincipled, immoral politics the people of the state have ever seen" and said he would sue "all parties responsible" for libel.

Present lineup of offices at stake: all in favor of Democrats, governors 20-15, Senate 20-15, House 294-129 and 2 vacancies.

Lineup of holdover offices: in favor of Democrats, governors 13-2, Senate 47-18.

Consensus of forecasts: Mild Republican governorship and House gains, little Senate shift. Probable turnout: Between 56 million and 59 million voters, an off-year record.

Weather: Snow in northern and central Rockies, northern Plains, upper Midwest. Scattered showers in lower Midwest, Ohio Valley, New England, Southwest, Fair elsewhere.

Hours of voting: Early morning start in virtually all areas. Poll closings range from 7 p. m. EST in many states east of the Mississippi until 2 a. m. EST Wednesday in Alaska.

Unofficial tabulations: Expected faster than ever, with cooperative National Election Service manning precincts and courthouses across the country.

Officials Warn

have never been completed since the jail was erected. Over a period of years the State Correction Department and several sheriffs have sought to have these cells completed and placed in condition for receiving prisoners.

The women's jail, which contains 16 cells on two floors in the old jail, is presently occupied by one prisoner.

It was to the upper floor of the women's jail that Sheriff Martin was compelled to resort last week when not only were all jail cells occupied but space for available cots ran out.

Supervisor Douglas Dye, (R), Town of Kingston, chairman of the Board of Supervisor's Sheriff's Committee, has called a special joint meeting with Sheriff William B. Martin and George F. Venter Jr., State Department of Correction, for Wednesday at the office of Chairman Charles Relyea in the county office building to discuss the problem.

Sheriff William B. Martin and Warden Carl Cline told a Freeman reporter who visited the jail, that conditions had reached a critical point. There are no more mattresses available to continue their "improvising" and both expressed concern over the overcrowded condition and the need for housing prisoners outside cells.

"They send me the prisoners, I have to take care of them," Sheriff Martin said. "I am required to house them, but how can I properly and safely take care of this number of prisoners without proper facilities?"

Sheriff Martin expressed deep concern over the safety situation and inability to properly care for prisoners and meet the State Correction Department standards.

"The only alternative left open to me was the temporary conversion of one floor of the women's jail to use by male prisoners," Sheriff Martin remarked.

Gov. Hoff Given Edge in Vermont

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP) —

The issue of a sales tax and Vermont's healthy economy appear to give Democratic Gov. Philip H. Hoff the edge today over his Republican challenger Richard A. Snelling.

The sales tax, with Hoff opposed and Snelling in favor, has held most of the attention since the Sept. 13 primary.

In the congressional race, Rep. Robert T. Stafford, R-Vt., appeared to be the heavy favorite for winning a fourth two-year term over Democratic National Committeeman William J. Ryan.

The better part of the constitutional officers' races seemed to be toss-ups, dependent to a great extent on the outcome of gubernatorial race.

But there was little doubt on the overall outcome of the legislative races in a state that has never according to available records, had anything but a Republican-dominated house and senate.

One of the largest ranches in Australia covers an area greater than the state of Maryland.

Drivers 'Bag' Deer Early

Although the deer season locally will not open for some time, three parties got their deer Monday.

State Police reported that two deer were struck in the Town of Olive and one in the Town of Esopus. In all instances the car operator claimed the deer.

Wesley Kissel, 42, of Samsonville, was driving on Route 28-A three miles south of Route 28 at about 5 p. m. Monday when a deer bounded from the side of the highway. The only injuries reported was to the deer.

Irving Rison, 38, of Nyack, struck a deer at Shokan. It was the first deer that his party had "bagged." They took the deer.

Highland troopers reported a buck was struck by a car on Route 9W at West Park. That deer also was claimed by the operator of the car.

In none of the accidents was any injury to passengers reported.

tabish Lunar Orbiter's contact with Canopus but didn't know what caused the difficulty.

However, the midcourse maneuver can be made at any time during the craft's next 123,000 miles to an orbit around the moon, the spokesman said.

Lunar Orbiter 2, launched Sunday from Cape Kennedy, Fla., is speeding 2,308 miles an hour toward the moon to photograph 13 potential astronaut landing sites.

The craft was scheduled to coast until Thursday, when rockets will be fired to send it into orbit around the moon. Before the craft starts taking pictures on Nov. 18, the orbit will be tightened so Orbiter passes within 28 miles of the moon at one point.

Orbiter will develop its own pictures and radio them to earth where scientists hope to discover new clues to the best terrain for men to land on.

Supreme Court Must Rule Upon Lottery Receipts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court is considering whether it is illegal to take receipts from the New Hampshire sweepstakes across state lines — receipts which a New Hampshire official says are worthless except as souvenirs.

The court heard arguments Monday on appeal from the Justice Department, which contends that taking the receipts, or acknowledgements, across state lines violates a federal law prohibiting interstate commerce of tickets or papers intended for use in wagering pools in connection with a sporting event.

The case at issue concerns Anthony L. Fabrizio of Elmira, N.Y., who was indicted on a charge that he took 75 receipts from Keene, N.H., to Elmira on Aug. 24, 1964. A U.S. District judge threw out the indictment. Fabrizio's attorney and Joseph A. Millimet, special assistant to the New Hampshire attorney general, argued that the federal law applied only to organized racketeering enterprises. The Justice Department said there was no such limitation.

New Hampshire sweepstakes tickets can be bought only in New Hampshire and cannot be taken out of the state. Millimet said the receipts were given for psychological reasons — as mementos or souvenirs. They are not required for a winner to collect.

The two-year-old New Hampshire sweepstakes, designed to raise money for education, are tied to results of four horse races each year.

Hunt for Attacker
ABERDEEN, Scotland (AP) — Police hunted today for a man who sprang from behind a tree and stabbed Jennifer Hunt, 19, daughter of the man who led the conquest of Mt. Everest.

Miss Hunt, an arts student at Aberdeen University, had 21 stitches taken in her gashed neck after the attack Monday night on the university campus.

Col. Sir John Hunt led the 1953 British expedition which scaled Mt. Everest for the first time.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

By JIM GILPATRIC

Are we developing into a schizophrenia race dooming others to a financial googol apes? Smile if you must at these strange words but they have a dreadfully serious meaning when linked in thought. A psychiatrist will tell you "schizophrenia" means, "loss of contact with reality." And, "googol" means the figure "1" followed with a hundred zeroes. . . . Now, let's link the thoughts together—

We are certainly out of touch with reality when we disregard the daily photographic repetition of millions spent for this "n't hat. We are out of touch with reality when we stretch out our hands in "gimme" insistence to our national treasury and fail to realize NO government can "give" without "taking it away" sooner or later.

We are out of touch with reality when we burden our children with debts that will doom them to "googol" hours of financial difficulty. And all this because of our present day "schizophrenia" spending sprees.

Particulars will be pinpointed in next week's thought. Watch for it. And incidentally, YOUR thoughts on the subject will be welcome. . . .

Long Trip to Vote

BOSTON (AP) — John W. McGarry will have a long trip to vote today.

McGarry, chief counsel to the Congressional Election Commission in Washington, expected to be in California this week, and so applied for an absentee ballot.

He never received the absentee ballot and because the law allows only one to a voter, he couldn't get another.

Secretary of State Kevin H. White said Monday he had word that McGarry would fly to Boston, his legal residence, to vote — then fly back to California.

President Slates Education Week

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson heads today for his old schoolteaching haunts halfway between his ranch and the Mexican border to deliver a day-before-election speech on education.

Later in the day, the President will drop by Brooke Army Medical Center in San Antonio for presurgical tests. He hoped to have his operations there later this week—sooner than originally expected—because he said: "As long as you have a kind of curtain hanging over you, not knowing what is in your throat, what is going to be the result of it, the best way to do it is to just hit the cold water."

Aides said he National Education Association suggested some time ago that Johnson mark National Education Week, which started today, with a speech at the 200-pupil Welhunsen School in Cotulla, where he taught Mexican-American students in the late 1920s.

As it turned out, the President was looking for an opportunity to make a "nonpolitical" election eve appearance close to his ranch.

Johnson flew to the ranch Friday for a period of "reduced work" prior to operations to remove a growth from his throat and to repair an abdominal hernia which has formed at the site of his 1965 gall bladder-kidney stone operation.

Today's Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF, AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Two decades ago, Japan was a defeated nation. Its industry was bankrupt, its spirit crushed, its people despaired of the future.

Japan today has pushed its economy to a height never before achieved by that nation. It is the world's largest shipbuilder. Its steel mills are the third most productive in the world.

Seldom Dwell on Defeat
Japanese businessmen today speak dispassionately about events of the early 1940s. Caught up in the "success begets success" cycle, they seldom dwell on their days of defeat.

When they do speak of the subject, they express an almost embarrassing gratitude to the United States for aid, equipment and technology with which they have reconstructed their country.

This spirit of kinship with America was the theme of a recent meeting of 25 top Japanese and 25 American businessmen at Palm Desert, Calif.

A Japanese steel executive, for example, commented repeatedly that "you (America) are the teacher, we are the pupil."

American businessmen listened with politeness matching that of the Japanese. But they no longer considered valid the teacher-student relationship.

Rudolph Peterson, president of the Bank of America, put it this way: "The respect is mutual now. Don't think we don't have a wholesome respect for them."

Must Trade or Die
Japanese and American businessmen now conduct what has been called the greatest trans-oceanic trade ever transacted between two nations, importing and exporting more than $4 billion of goods a year.

Japan must, in fact, trade or die. It has few raw materials. It must import 20 per cent of its food needs, and this includes alfalfa to feed its cows and rice for its people.

Its steel mills, most of which have been built since the war, must import iron ore from Australia. Even fuel for the mills must be imported.

Despite these obstacles, Japanese steel competes around the world.

How can they do it? First, American technology has been used abundantly. But technology would be worthless if the raw materials couldn't be shipped to Japan.

To close that gap the Japanese shipbuilding industry now makes ships of a size nobody dreamed possible a decade ago. This has reduced shipping costs dramatically.

The Japanese nation, meanwhile, has made a concentrated effort to maintain a high standard of quality in all exported goods. This, also, has helped Japanese businessmen compete abroad.

The result is, that despite importing its raw materials, Japan now has a surplus in its balance of payments account.

Action Postponed In Pollution Cases

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State Health Department has postponed action in pollution cases against three New York State villages.

In action Monday, the state agency.

Adjoining indefinitely a hearing involving the Broome County village of Endicott, charged with polluting the Susquehanna River.

—Set Dec. 5 as the date for a hearing involving alleged pollution of the Mohawk River by the Herkimer County village of Frankfort.

—Gave the Oneida County village of Oriskany Falls an "indefinite period" to respond to a charge of polluting Oriskany Creek, a tributary of the Mohawk.

Medical Society Urges Support of Diabetes Drive

The Ulster County Medical Society urges the support of the local Ulster County Diabetes Detection Drive. Dr. Elbert MacFadden, president of the Society, has issued the following statement.

"We hope to spare many residents of Kingston the consequences that sometime ensue when diabetes goes uncontrolled for too long a time.

Many Unaware
"For among the millions in the United States who have diabetes, there are 1,600,000 who do not know it. This means that in Kingston there are probably scores of people in this unfortunate situation. Those are the people we want to help."

do so because there are three factors which can determine the future health and well being of a person with diabetes—early detection, prompt medical treatment and proper instruction to enable the patient to control his or her condition.

"Certain individuals are more likely to develop diabetes than others—people who have diabetes in the family, people who are middle-aged or older, and those who are overweight. Women are more susceptible than men. Above the age of 45, three out of five diabetics are women. Mothers who have had exceptionally large babies—nine pounds or more—are very likely to develop diabetes at some time in their lives.

"Such people should realize that their chance of becoming diabetic is greater than the average. It would be thoughtful for relatives and friends to point out that they should be tested. But since anyone may develop diabetes at any age it is wise for others as well to take a test."

Notes Test Clinics

Dr. MacFadden said that the special arrangements for being tested during Diabetes Week, Nov. 13-19, have been made. Clinics will be held at Kingston Hospital Nov. 14, 15 and 16 from 2 to 4 p. m. and from 7 to 9 p. m. at Benedictine Hospital Nov. 17, 18 and 19 from 2 to 4 p. m. and from 7 to 9 p. m., and at the New Paltz Medical Center on Saturday, Nov. 19. He pointed out that while Diabetes Week itself is of utmost importance, the Detection Drive must be a year-round effort.

"In addition to our millions of people with diabetes there are close to six million potential diabetics—people who do not have diabetes yet but will develop it at some time during their lives. Hence at any time there are large numbers of people crossing the threshold and becoming diabetic."

Dr. MacFadden concluded with a reminder that there is no fund-raising connected with Diabetes Week. "It is simply a public service to the community as a whole and to our neighbors, friends and relatives who may have diabetes and not know it."

Time Is Deducted From 2½-4 Term

GLENS FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—Richard J. Moore of New York City faces a 2½ to 4-year prison sentence for second-degree manslaughter—minus the 428 days he spent in jail awaiting trial.

Moore, 54, pleaded guilty Monday in Warren County Court to the reduced charge in the stabbing of a co-worker at a summer resort in September 1965.

Judge Alexander P. Robertson sentenced Moore to the term in Clinton State Prison and deducted from the sentence the time that Moore already had served.

Moore, a handyman, and Sam Reynolds, had been working at the Green Mansion Resort in the nearby town of Chester. Reynolds died shortly after a fight between the two, police said. Moore originally was indicted on a charge of first-degree manslaughter.

Waterford Airman Presumed Drowned

WATERFORD, N.Y. (AP) — An airman second class from this Saratoga County community was listed today by the Air Force as presumed drowned in a boating accident off Clearwater, Fla.

He was Raymond A. Sorrell, a graduate of Waterford High School, who first enlisted four years ago and re-enlisted last May.

His mother, Mrs. Helen G. Sorrell, said Air Force officials at MacDill Air Force Base, Tampa, Fla., told her that the 25-year-old airman was fishing with two companions when their boat capsized under a large wave.

The officials said one of the airmen was recovered safely but two, including Sorrell, were lost.

Memorial services were planned Thursday in Waterford and in Tampa, where Sorrell's widow, Vayl, lives with their 3-year-old son Jeffrey.

The Sorrell address in Waterford is 17 Hudson St.

Ponce de Leon named Florida after the beautiful wildflowers growing there in abundance.

Brooke Would Be First Negro in Senate in Years

BOSTON (AP) — Massachusetts will elect a new U.S. senator in today's election, and he may be the first Negro to win a seat in that body in more than 85 years.

Edward W. Brooke, after two terms as state attorney general, is the Republican nominee for the seat to be vacated at the end of the year by the incumbent Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass., who is retiring.

Brooke's Democratic opponent is Endicott Peabody, trying for a comeback after one term as governor in 1963-64.

What effect any "white backlash" may have on the outcome is problematic. Both candidates have shied away from the race issue, and Peabody has been an outspoken supporter of civil rights. Two years ago, while Peabody was governor, his mother was jailed in St. Augustine, Fla., where she had gone to take part in integration demonstrations. Mrs. Peabody is the wife of Rt. Rev. Malcolm E. Peabody, retired Episcopal bishop of Upstate New York.

At the state level, the incumbent Republican governor, John A. Volpe, is trying for a third term, with his rival Edward J. McCormack, nephew of the Speaker of the House, John W. McCormack, D-Mass.

At stake is the first four-year term in the office under a constitutional change made in the last election.

Most of the campaign fire has developed in the contest for state attorney general.

Running for the office are Democratic Francis X. Bellotti, who was lieutenant governor during Peabody's administration, and Elliott L. Richardson, the Republican incumbent lieutenant governor.

They captured public attention with a series of charges and counter charges, culminating in an announcement by Brooke that he will ask the Suffolk County grand jury to investigate.

Note Rebels Are Sharply Active In Africa Colony

By DENNIS REDMONT

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Rebel activity has sharply increased in Angola, Portugal's richest African territory, with a three-pronged attack on its borders. The calm, which set in after Portugal quashed the rebellion of 1961, has been broken by the sound of mortars on the Zambian frontier, the chatter of machine guns in the northern enclave of Cabinda and by more frequent ambushes in the unruly north.

Portugal, which exerts control over chunks of Africa 23 times the size of the mother country, has named a tough 46-year-old lieutenant colonel to take charge. Camilo R. Vaz, who in 1961, commanded an infantry regiment of Portugal's 40,000 Angola troops, takes office as governor this month. He served five years in Vize, the kernel-province of rebel resistance. Vaz will be directly responsible to Premier Antonio Salazar for the fortunes of Angola, an area that yields oil, diamonds, coffee, sugar, tobacco and cotton.

Vaz's toughest military problem lies in the eastern part of Angola, a wedge of rolling hills and small brush hutting into Zambia. Defense Minister Gomes de Araujo announced last month that Portuguese troops and artillery were being sent to the border after the opening of "a third front." Rebels have made incursions deep into Angola. A recent army communique said that two persons were murdered along the Benguela railway in Vila Luso, 25 miles from the Zambian border.

The terrorists are apparently agitating along the British-owned Benguela railway, which runs from the port of Lobito to the heart of the Congo-Katanga district through Zambia. It is the shortest outlet for copper, aluminum, manganese, cobalt, zinc and iron ores of the region. Portuguese officials say the rebels will fall short of cutting the railway since such action would handicap their base country, Zambia.

Retirement Delayed

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Rep. Frank Chelf, a Democrat, who had planned to retire this year after 22 years in Congress, is his party's new 4th District candidate in Tuesday's election. Chelf was selected Sunday night as the replacement for John J. Moloney, 61, of Covington, who died Sunday afternoon at Louisville apparently of a heart attack.

People* who enjoy Automatic Oil Heat will enjoy dependable comfort this winter...

*and that includes the majority of prudent Hudson Valley homeowners

Forecast: Oil-heated homeowners will again be the luckiest—and the most comfortable—people this winter. For with Oil you've got more heating advantages working for you than with any other fuel. Safe fuel storage right on your own premises, for example, backed by millions of gallons of reserve supplies right here, not thousands of pipe or wire-line miles away. Dozens of local, competitive dealers to choose from—every one interested in earning your favor. Economy, in fuel prices established by competition, rather than a one-source monopoly. No wonder dependable Oil Heat has always been the favorite among Hudson Valley homeowners!

AND TALK ABOUT ECONOMY! OIL HEAT SAVES UP TO 66% OVER UTILITY HEATING FUELS—

Here's a down-to-earth, no-argument way to compare Oil Heat's low, low cost with a utility fuel: If you were to heat your home electrically, at prevailing rates of 1½¢ per KWH, for example, that would be equivalent, in terms of what you could spend for the same heat with oil, to 48.9¢ per gallon! But everyone knows that oil heat costs only about one-third of that.

Electric Resistance Heating at:	Is Equivalent to #2 Fuel Oil Costing This Much:
2.0¢ per Kilowatt Hour	65.2¢ per Gallon
1.8¢ per Kilowatt Hour	58.6¢ per Gallon
1.5¢ per Kilowatt Hour	48.9¢ per Gallon
1.3¢ per Kilowatt Hour	42.4¢ per Gallon
1.0¢ per Kilowatt Hour	32.6¢ per Gallon

Women's Christian Society Sets Plans For Holiday Fair

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service was held in the chapel of the Saugerties Methodist Church Nov. 1. During the business meeting final plans were made for the annual Holiday Fair which will be held on Nov. 12.

Mrs. George Transom led the devotion for the evening which emphasized the Week of Prayer and Self Denial. An offering for community centers around the world and the Deaconess' Pension Fund was taken. The speaker for the evening was Miss Marie LaBelle who spoke about VISTA and her work on the Warm Springs Indian reservation in Oregon. Refreshments were served by hostesses Mrs. William Brogan, Mrs. William Waldele and Miss Ethel Ballard. The meeting next month will be on Saturday, Dec. 3, at 12:30 p. m. which will be a Christmas luncheon. The program will be entitled "For This Little Time."

On Tuesday, Nov. 15 at 10 a. m. the Society will have a service for Quiet Day of Prayer and Self Denial in the church. The service will include a sacrificial meal at noon and will close at 1 p. m. Child care will be provided. Each woman attending is asked to bring her Bible and other devotional literature she may wish to use during the service. The Society cordially invites women of other churches in the area to attend.

Eastern Star Elects Slate of Officers;

A party was held at the home of Gertrude and Harold Phillips of Ellenville, for the GUYS and CHICKS of '66 Matrons and Patrons and trailers of the Order of the Eastern Star, Oct. 30.

Thirty-three were present for the party. Frank Sherow dressed to entertain the group in authentic Halloween costume. The officers elected were Roberta Dingee president; Buddy Aldrich and Albert Morrison vice presidents; Mildred Brady, secretary; and Elsie Cordie treasurer. The new committee consists of Grace Pink, Alice Erbe and Rosemary Jones.

The Green-Elsterettes voted to send cards to the members when ill. An autographed card was sent to Edna Brink who was in the Kingston Hospital. Flowers will be sent when a death occurs within an immediate family.

Nov. 28 Barbara Harris will be installed in Constellation at Kingston.

The last weekend in April was chosen for a get-together in 1967 at the Hunter Ski Lodge. The second weekend in Sept. 1967 will be a picnic at John South's Whippoorwill on the Perling-Acra Road. There will be election of new officers.

The Right Thing To Do

By Elizabeth L. Post

GIFT OF MONEY IS NEVER REQUESTED

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I just received a reception invitation for a couple that was married a few weeks ago. The parents of the groom are giving the reception in their home. My wife is that written on the bottom of the invitation were the words "Money Preferred."

These same parents gave a reception for their youngest son (a Marine) and his wife three years ago when he was home on leave from Hawaii. At the bottom of that invitation were the same words. At the time of the first invitation, my husband and I, among other friends who received this same invitation, were pretty provoked by this request. Please print my letter in your column expressing your personal opinion about people who send their friends and family an invitation of this type.

—Fed Up.
Dear Fed Up: I'm delighted to express my opinion. I think it's the most mercenary thing I've ever heard of! In the first place, one never asks for a gift of any kind, and to specify that money is preferred is incredible. If a friend asks what the bride and groom would like, the parents might conceivably say, "I'm sure a small check would be welcome." But to suggest the nature of the gift when the information was not solicited, is contrary to every principle of etiquette.

Timing Announcement in Paper

Dear Mrs. Post: Our daughter is going to announce her engagement shortly at a reception in our home. Would you tell me when the announcement of the engagement should appear in the paper?—Mrs. J.T.

Dear Mrs. T.: If the purpose of the party is to make a surprise announcement of the engagement, obviously the cat would be out of the bag if the news came out in the paper ahead of time, so it should appear the day after the reception. If, however, the party is simply a celebration of the event, the newspaper announcement may advance a day or two in advance.

Pop From Bottles Okay Informally

Dear Mrs. Post: I have been reading your column for quite a while and I have a question about manners that has been bothering me and a few of my friends. Is it proper for a girl to drink pop from a bottle (without a straw) or from a can?—Janet Robb.

Dear Janet: A lot of people, including myself, don't like drinking carbonated drinks through a straw. So if you don't either, a glass or paper cup isn't available, so ahead and drink it as it comes. But in a restaurant, or at the dining room table, the drink should definitely be poured into a glass.

Catholic War Vets Will Offer Mass to Mark Veterans Day

The St. Ignatius Loyola Post 1769, Catholic War Veterans, will have a Mass said for veterans, both living and dead, at Holy Name of Jesus Church, Nov. 10, at 6 p. m. The Rev. John Russell, post chaplain and pastor of the Holy Name Church of Jesus, will celebrate the Mass.

After Mass, dinner will be served. Bartholomew C. Stuart, post commander, said, "The local post has held this event annually in conjunction with Veterans Day services. This is only a small tribute. The post feels that all veterans should be remembered for services to their country."

Tickets are available for the dinner from either Ben Gulnick, John Smith, Charles Alecca or John Machione, all of Kingston.

Music Appreciation Group Holds Meeting

The Music Appreciation Group met at the home of Mrs. Frank Thompson on Friday, Oct. 28.

Mrs. William Ochs, president, called the meeting to order and read a short article about Duke Ellington which emphasized the part that religion played in his music.

After a brief business meeting the program was presented jointly by Mrs. Earl Mack and Mrs. Robert Pixley under the heading Music as an Art, touching on Getting Behind the Music and Equipment for the Listener. Recordings of compositions by Debussy, Strauss, Chopin, Tchaikovsky and Wagner were played to illustrate various points.

During the social hour which followed, Mrs. Harry Smith assisted Mrs. Thompson in serving refreshments.

The next meeting is scheduled to be held at the home of Mrs. Robert Pixley.

As a Senior Project Engineer, Bednarz is concerned with developing and verifying computer programs which perform on-board navigation calculations used to steer the TITAN missile, causing it to perform intended maneuvers during flight. He is a member of Tau Beta Pi and Eta Kappa Nu engineering honor societies, the Association for Computing Machinery and Simulation Councils, Inc.

Coach House Group Plans Critic's Choice At Local School

The Coach House Players will present as their opening production Critic's Choice a comedy on the theme of a husband's wisdom in not criticizing his wife in public at the George Washington School Nov. 17-19 at 8:30 p. m. The play, written by Ira Levin, author of the long-popular No Time for Sergeants was a six-months' success in New York in the 1960-61 season.

The man in this case is a dramatic critic for a New York newspaper and his big mistake is in writing a disparaging review of a play that his wife finds a bit more irritating than if he had harshly remarked, in the presence of the couple from next door, on her failure to draw trumps.

Dixon McGrath will play this dramatic critic with an inability to keep his mouth shut in print about his wife's inability as a playwright. He should, of course, know better. In fact, he had been wedded once before, to an actress. He had written a review of one of her performances with less than connubial enthusiasm. This had put a sudden end to that marriage.

As a result he is now blessed with a second wife. When she decides to write a play, the supposedly clever critic seems not for that occasion — and to have learned anything from the break-up of his first marriage. He is gripped with such boundless integrity that he foolishly writes the unkind review that he feels the inept play deserves, thereby courting a second divorce, rather than break his Hippocratic oath.

June Boyle will appear as the wife who thinks her husband's loyalty should prompt him to write glowingly of her play—or let a substitute write his review for that occasion . . . and to press his real views only to her privately.

Doris Urell will portray the critic's first wife, who has forgiven his criticism and would like to win him back. Bill Williams will be seen as a play director with a more than craftsmanly interest in the critic's playwrighting wife, and Jeff Kunz as the critic's 12-year-old son who offers to sell ready-made quips to his father for using when appraising plays. Others in the cast will be Janet Hornbeck and Arlette Miller.

William D. Skilling is setting the comic pace of the play with his direction and Ralph Harper has designed scenery depicting the critic's sybaritic home—luxurious enough to suggest that the commentator may be the highest paid critic on earth.

Season tickets are now available from any member of the Players. They also entitle holders a choice of reserved seats for the musical before the chart goes open to the public. The group will present The Two Mrs. Carrolls in February and Pajama Game in May.

Nursery School Planning Committee Meets, Plans Sale

The Kingston Nursery School Committee, chaired by Mrs. Herbert Nelson held a planning meeting at the home of Mrs. Abraham Feldman also serving in this committee are Mrs. Ralph Wall, co-chairman in charge of registration; Mrs. Abraham Feldman, fund raising; Mrs. Marvin Millens, equipment; Mrs. Harris Gally, public relations; and Mrs.

Milton Ratner, parent-teacher relations and in charge of P-TA meetings.

It was announced that the Nursery School would observe American Education Week, Nov. 6-10. All interested parents are invited to observe their children in action during a typical day's routine. If it isn't possible to visit this week, parents may come at any time during the school year.

Mrs. Millens, in charge of equipment, announced that several new pieces of equipment to help enrich the curriculum would be purchased shortly.

Also the Annual Toy Rummage Sale will be held Dec. 14 from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. at the Jewish Community Center, 96 Maiden Lane. Mrs. Abraham Feldman, chairman of this event, asked that anyone having toys to please bring them to the center as soon as possible.

Plans for the rest of the term submitted by Miss Carolyn King, head teacher, included observing United Nations Day, Thanksgiving, Christmas, Chanukah, and an Indian Costume Party, with original costumes made by the children.

The Kingston Nursery School, sponsored by the Jewish Community Center, has a non-sectarian intake policy. It is also a non-participating school, therefore mothers do not have to assist the teacher except for extra supervision on field trips.

Welcomes Sears

We need them in our league!

Retailing — like baseball — must have good teams and good competition to bring out the fans.

In our league of the Uptown Kingston Section, one of our biggest "stadiums" — the property on which Sears has built a beautiful, modern store — has been an empty field too long.

In taking over this property, the Sears team is filling an important berth in the uptown section of Kingston Competition is just as healthy in retailing as it is in baseball. Good competition puts everyone on his toes, attracts the fans, gives them what they want.

That's why we welcome Sears. As one of the top teams in retailing, their ball club will help make the uptown Kingston section an even greater shopping area for the surrounding communities.

Esopus to Hold Budget Hearing Wednesday Night

The public hearing on the 1967 Town of Esopus budget will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. at the Town Hall, Port Jervis. The hearing will be followed by the regular monthly Town Board meeting.

The proposed budget calls for a tax appropriation on a town-wide basis of $116,749, a reduction of $1,411 from last year's figure. In addition, $106,094.28 will be raised by taxation for the various fire, street light and water districts in the Township. The special district taxes are levied against the resident taxpayers who receive the particular benefit from the service provided by the district.

The proposed budget has been on file at the town clerk's office at the Town Hall, Port Jervis, for inspection by any interested citizen since the October meeting of the Town Board. Until today, no resident has asked to inspect the budget. Anyone wishing to do so, may still examine the proposed budget up until the start of the public hearing.

Among the items expected to be on the agenda of the monthly board meeting are action on the tax relief proposal for those 65 years of age and older, and the possible appointment of a town committee to work with other interested groups on the preservation of Perrine's Bridge, over the Wallkill River, west of Rifton.

Lions Announce

ions for the $1,000 prizes," President Frank L. Miller of the Hurley Lions Club said.

"Our Club's winner will advance to Lions District 20-0 competition in his (her) effort to qualify for the multiple district contest, Feltham said.

The contest sponsored by more than 20,000 Lions Clubs in more than 130 countries in the free world, will be the largest Peace Essay Contest in the world today.

"The purpose of the contest is to develop a formula for world peace because we feel peace is attainable," President Feltham said.

"We want to alert our youth to the need for world peace and focus attention on that important goal," he said.

In announcing the contest internationally, President Lindsey said that Lions International, the world's largest service club organization is well qualified to sponsor such a contest.

He said the world-wide representation of Lions, the attention given to international relations and friendship between different nationalities and their participation in international humanitarian programs were their credentials for the patronage of the contest.

Four-Category Judging

Contestants should submit their entry in essay form, not to exceed 5,000 words.

Judging will fall into four categories: 75 per cent of the essay's points will be devoted to content, ten per cent to organization, ten per cent to style and five per cent to mechanics," Feltham said.

(The mechanics segment will be used to appraise the grammatical construction of the essay.)

"Three judges will be appointed to evaluate the entries submitted to our club," it was announced.

"If our area winner can advance through the judging stages up to the world finals he will receive an expense paid trip to Chicago to attend the Lions International 50th Annual Convention for the final judging of his essay in addition to the $1,000 award."

Both Feltham and Miller said they hoped local young people would accept the challenge and enter the contest. Closing date for the club's contest is Dec. 10, 1966.

Students wishing to enter the contest should contact Feltham or Raymond Crosswell of the Hurley Club to get full details.

They stressed that each applicant will be limited to one entry, with one winner's essay eligible to compete in the Lions District 20-0 contest. Winner of the district contest will be entered in state or country contest. Each country or multiple district will be entered in one of the eight world divisions.

Report Vote . . .

about 15 per cent allotted to two other entries — Liberal party nominee Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. and Conservative Paul L. Adams.

Some surveys showed an unusually large segment of the electorate was still "undecided" in the closing stages of the campaign.

Both major-party candidates sought to sway this vote with eleventh-hour flying tours across Upstate New York on election eve.

Spending Increase

Rockefeller charged during his tour that O'Connor's programs would boost state spending by $610 million a year. O'Connor countered by claiming that Rockefeller, if re-elected, would raise taxes "dramatically" in the near future.

Both camps also predicted victory. O'Connor maintained that he would win by 300,000 votes. Rockefeller, who had a "lined until Monday" forecast of the outcome, said he now believed he would win, and the Republican state chairman forecast a Rockefeller plurality of up to 250,000.

Republican campaign strategists hoped for a heavy vote, especially Unstate, the traditional heartland of GOP strength. Democrats said privately they believed a modest turnout would work to O'Connor's advantage, since Democrats held a 3-2 advantage over the GOP in "hard core" party enrollments.

Cool, Cloudy

The forecast was for cool and cloudy weather across the state with occasional showers. Upstate.

New York State voters really had their work cut out for them. Besides choosing their next governor, they were to elect the state's 41-member delegation to the U. S. House of Representatives, an entire state Legislature, a state comptroller and attorney general, 181 judges to next year's State Constitution Convention and numerous local officials.

They also faced 12 questions on the statewide portion of the ballot, including a proposed constitutional amendment that would authorize the state to operate a lottery to raise revenue for the public schools.

In New York City, voters were to decide whether the city should be allowed to continue its civilian-dominated police review board. The debate over this issue was so emotional as to overshadow the gubernatorial race in the minds of many persons.

Some Predictable

The outcome of some of these issues was somewhat predictable.

Democrats, who held a 27-14 superiority in the congressional delegation, were expected to yield back three or four of the seven seats they took from the GOP in the 1964 Johnson landslide.

The present political division in the Legislature was likely to be preserved — with Republicans in control of the Senate and Democrats in command of the Assembly.

Democratic Comptroller Arthur Levitt and Republican Attorney General Louis Lefkowitz were heavy favorites to win re-election.

Voter approval of the lottery question was anticipated, while most observers felt the review board would be struck down.

Which political party would emerge with majority control was anybody's guess. The convention's job will be to rewrite the entire State Constitution.

The race between the 38-year-old Rockefeller, seeking a third term, and the 56-year-old O'Connor, now serving as president of the New York City Council, was regarded in most quarters as a real toss-up.

Note Erosion

While Rockefeller won his first two terms by half-million-vote pluralities, his popularity subsequently was eroded — largely because of tax increases.

O'Connor made a major issue of the tax increases and also charged that the governor neglected the state while pursuing his party's presidential nomination. Rockefeller said repeatedly during the campaign that he "never again" would seek the presidency.

Throughout the campaign, Rockefeller styled himself as the underdog and would go no farther than to express "cautious optimism" about his victory prospects.

He abandoned that posture Tuesday, saying he sensed a "definite surge of enthusiasm" for him. "On the basis of the record," he said, "I feel this administration will be returned to office."

Joe E. Lewis III

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Comedian Joe E. Lewis undergoes hospital tests today to determine the extent of a stroke he suffered in his hotel room Monday night.

A spokesman for Sunrise Hospital, where Lewis was taken, described the stroke as "very mild" and said Lewis, 64, was in good condition.

Balloting Ends Bitter Pa. Drive

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pennsylvanians cast their ballots today to end a sometimes bitter gubernatorial campaign pitting Republican Lt. Gov. Raymond P. Shafer against Democrat Milton S. Shapp, a millionaire Philadelphia industrialist.

Several other state offices and 27 congressional seats are also at stake. Democrats hold a 15-12 advantage in the House of Representatives.

Shafer generally ran on the record of the administration of Republican Gov. William W. Scranton, while Shapp proposed tuition-free colleges for Pennsylvania youth, new taxes on utilities, cheaper milk and auto insurance reforms.

Shafer said the state gained up to half a million new jobs during the administration of Scranton, who is barred by law from succeeding himself. Shapp, who backed the Democratic organization to win the nomination, contended the state has run downhill during the last four years.

Strategists Say

may trade some seats in senatorial contests. But the politicians' thinking was that there will be little change in the 67-33 bulge Johnson's party now holds.

A shift of 25 or more votes in the House might strand some of Johnson's legislative proposals in the new Congress. He would not be likely, for example, to get through bills to outlaw state union shop bans or to fix federal standards for unemployment compensation.

Southern Democrats might join with the Republicans to knock out the Teachers' Corps and to end rent subsidies. The financing of the demonstration cities program would be tougher to obtain.

Johnson, who talked Monday about billions for education at Cotulla, Tex., where he once taught school, expected to cast his vote in Johnson City, Tex., along with Mrs. Johnson.

Nixon Sees Protest Vote

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, winding up campaigning in Indiana, expressed the opinion that his recent verbal fracas with Johnson might help bring out a protest vote against Democratic candidates.

Early poll closings in Connecticut, Illinois, Maryland, Mississippi, New Hampshire, Vermont and Virginia seemed likely to provide early evening trends on local answers to vexing issues that have cropped up in some areas.

Connecticut is being watched for a sign of possible GOP resurgence in House contests. Republicans were blanked out of the six-member state delegation in 1964.

In Illinois, Republican Charles H. Percy, rated as a GOP presidential possibility if he wins, is contesting veteran Democratic Sen. Paul H. Douglas, if Percy does well in the Chicago area, part of his vote strength will be credited to resentment against the Democrats for Negro housing demands.

Maryland offers a relatively clear-cut test of the open housing issue with the Democratic candidate for governor, George P. Mahoney, opposing Republican Spiro T. Agnew.

moderation, Hyman A. Pressman is on the ballot as an independent.

In New Hampshire, Republican Harrison R. Thynge, a retired Air Force brigadier general, is plugging for acceleration of the Viet Nam war in his contest with Democratic Sen. Thomas J. McIntire. McIntire generally has supported Johnson's policies.

Gov. John W. King also has faced a stiff contest for reelection from Republican Hugh Gregg.

Hair-Line Affairs

As befitting balloting in which there are so many uncertainties, several other hair-line affairs that could go either way.

Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown was slightly trailing Republican Ronald Reagan in the California polls. But indications were that 10 per cent of the voters were still undecided. Each held its cause.

Winthrop Rockefeller, trying to establish a brother act among the governors with Nelson A. Rockefeller, was reported running strongly against segregationist Democrat Jim Johnson in Arkansas.

Republican Govs. James A. Rhodes of Ohio and George Romney of Michigan were expected to romp home with victories. In Rhodes' case this might mean additional GOP House seats, including one for Robert Taft Jr., grandson of a president and son of a senator.

In Romney's case, it was a matter of whether he could help pull in GOP Sen. Robert P. Griffin over Democratic former six-term Gov. G. Mennen Williams and thus establish the governor as the kind of winner the Republicans might want at the head of their 1968 ticket.

There was last-minute uncertainty about the Massachusetts senatorial contest pitting GOP Atty. Gen. Edward R. Brooke, a Negro, against former Democratic Gov. Endicott Peabody.

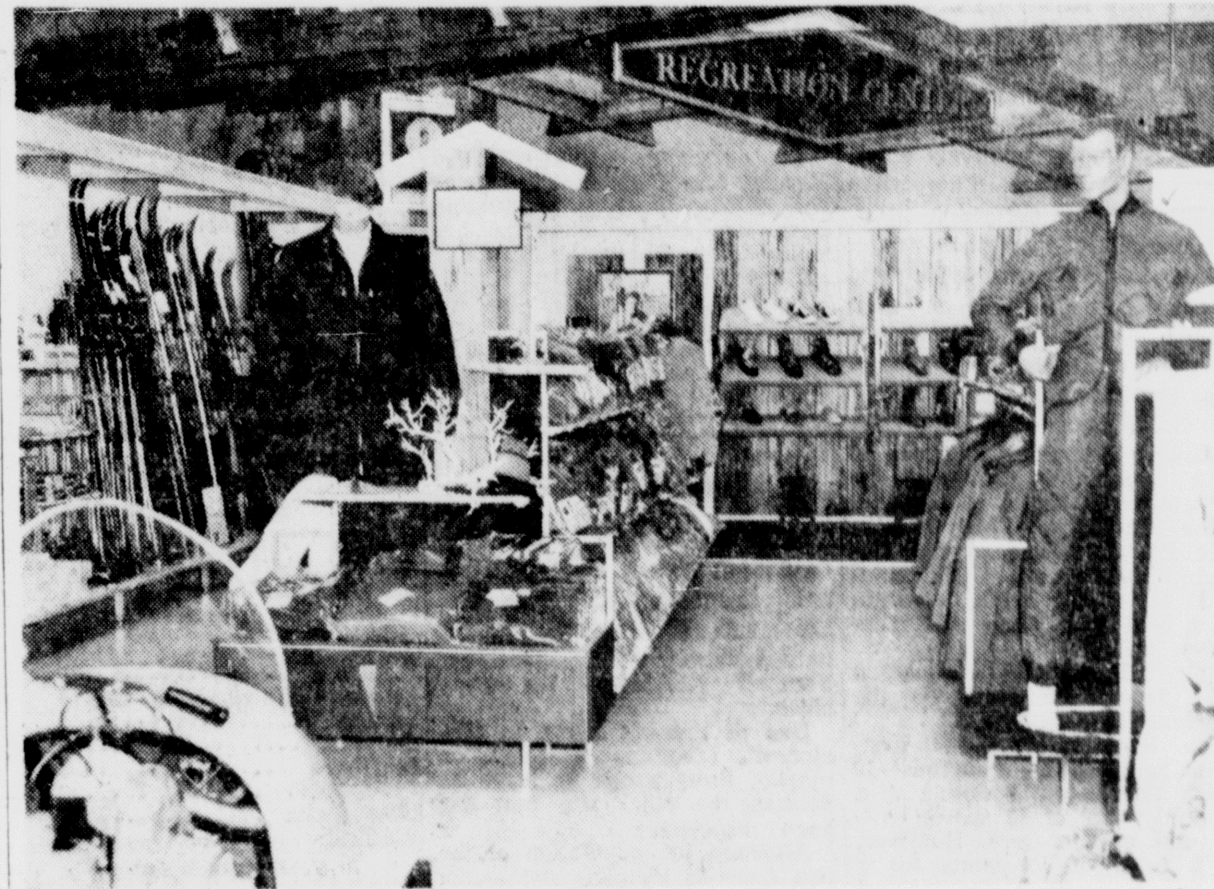

Mrs. George C. Wallace, husband of the segregationist governor of Alabama, was favored to succeed him and become the nation's only woman governor.

But in Georgia, a write-in campaign on behalf of Democratic moderate former Gov. Ellis G. Arnall threatened to throw an apparently close race between segregationist Democrat Lester G. Maddox and Republican Howard (Bo) Callaway into the state legislature. To win, one man must receive a majority of all votes cast.

COLOR DOMINATES WOMEN'S FASHIONS—New colors catch the eyes of shoppers in Sears Fashion Center, Kingston Shopping Plaza. For last night's show, the company's New York

Professional Women Score With Fashion Show; 625 Fill Washington Auditorium

An entirely new concept for fashion shows was introduced to an over-capacity audience of 625 at the George Washington School in Kingston last night. Those attending were representatives of more than 150 women's organizations in Ulster County. They had been invited to the program by the Ulster County Business and Professional Women's Club, an affiliate of the National and International BPW Clubs, Inc.

Invitations to the "A Holiday Happening" were extended by Mary Denton, A. Narel, president of the Ulster County BPW Club, and Mrs. Virginia Neher, BPW Chairman of Personal Development for the local club, was general chairman of the show.

Last night's program was given in cooperation with Sears and Roebuck Company which will have its grand opening in the Kingston Shopping Plaza tomorrow. Sears arrangements were handled by Robert March, general manager of the new store; Fran Pettit, Public Relations Staff, Boston, Mass.; Sears Audio-Visual Department; Philadelphia, Pa., and the company's New York Fashion Board.

BPW committee members assisting Mrs. Neher were: Rosemary Denton, Anne Berle, Chris Gallop, Sara MacDonald, JoAnn Byrnes, Marg Rothburn, Lilian Barnett. Serving as hostesses were Hilda Krum, Ethel Howard, Bertha Gally, Beverly Reese, Ethel Howard, Eleanor Wuest, Edith Hungerford and Renee

O'Sullivan. Also assisting backstage were BPW members Rosemary Caulfield and Rita Frederick.

Guests Attend

Among the out of town guests attending the gala show were BPW members from Catskill, Hudson and Albany as well as Miss Katherine Abel, District III Director; Mrs. Carolyn DeLaMater, BPW State 3rd vice president; and Mrs. May Tobin, Assistant Deputy Commissioner, New York State Department of Commerce, Woman's Department.

Despit last minute technical difficulties with scenic effects and sound equipment, the show was received with a great deal of enthusiasm. The newly devised format provides a fast paced show which is a complete departure from standard presentations. With minor modifications there is little doubt that the format presented last night will be the fashion show of the future.

Modeling were Michelle Ball, Mrs. Jay Bertha, Suzanne Boke, Mrs. August Colao, Mrs. Rosemary Denton, Laurie Deyo, Mary Driscoll, James Fuoco, Sheila Gallop, Udo Glosch, Joan Goff, Yogi Isiro, Mrs. Robert Klein, Mrs. Donald MacIsaac, Jane McElrath.

Also modeling were: James McElrath, James McElrath, Craig Plough, Jill Plough, Mrs. Donald Quick, Connie Radell, Ronnie Sleight, Billy Stote, Denise Stote, Julie Talley, Alice Valentine, Mrs. Seymour Werbalowsky, Joan Woinoski and Mrs. Roy Wulff.

Fly 140 Mission

U.S. pilots flew 140 missions over North Viet Nam Monday. The flyers said they destroyed 45 enemy targets, three anti-aircraft sites, 48 buildings, trucks and rail lines. They also reported damaging a radar station and said other strikes set off 13 secondary explosions and 16 fires.

American pilots flew 507 sorties in South Viet Nam and the South Vietnamese reported 285 B52 bombers from Guam hit suspected enemy base camps in Binh Dinh and Tay Ninh provinces today. The strike in Tay Ninh was in support of Operation Attleboro 2, the sweep near the Cambodian border by the U.S. 1st and 25th Infantry Divisions and the 196th Light Infantry Brigade. The Americans claim 446 Viet Cong confirmed dead since the operation began Oct. 15.

Vindicated At Meeting: Fitzsimmons

As a result of a meeting Monday with State Commissioner of Social Welfare George F. Wyman at Albany, Ulster County Commissioner of Public Welfare Joseph Fitzsimmons today said "our agency was completely vindicated as to all matters in the Luni case."

"Commissioner Wyman concluded all matters were held in accordance with the law and the best interests of the child," Fitzsimmons said today.

Included in the conference at Albany Monday was Chief Counsel Felix Isaacs and Assistant Counsel Carr. There were several other members of the commissioner's staff who sat in on the conference.

Commissioner Fitzsimmons said further that under the law he was not permitted to divulge much of the information related to the adoption case. However, due to the extreme publicity which the case had received, Commissioner Fitzsimmons said he had been granted permission by the State Commissioner to make a "complete statement" Wednesday as to facts surround-

Cancer Warning Signals

Unusual Bleeding or Discharge

Unusual bleeding or discharge from a body opening is a most important warning signal for cancer. There are other possible causes for unusual bleeding or discharge but cancer should be proved or disproved first.

Bleeding may be the earliest and most significant warning signal of cancer. A physician should be consulted at once. Only a physician can decide whether unusual bleeding is due to cancer or not.

Some of Most Frequent

Here is a number of cancers, some of the most frequent among both men and women, in which bleeding is a warning signal:

Cancer of the uterus.
Cancer of the large bowel.
Cancer of the bladder and kidney.

Cancer of the lung.

Abnormal vaginal bleeding warns against cancer of the uterus. It is the commonest warning signal. The complaint should not be casually explained away on the basis of "menstrual irregularity," "just change of life," "renewal of periods after menopause." Abnormal vaginal bleeding varies in time, kind, and amount. It occurs at time of the menstrual period, between periods, or after the menopause. It is slight or heavy with clots. Bleeding following intercourse or douching, often if only spotting, should never be ignored. Any vaginal discharge which is abnormal in quantity, color or odor warrants concern. There may be slight pink, red brown discharge.

In no other disease does a person have such power to determine the outcome for himself as in cancer.

To a large measure the responsibility for detection of cancer in an early, localized stage, when modern treatment can give the most hopeful results, rests with the person affected. Ninety-thousand more Americans could be saved today from cancer if they would only understand the life-saving importance, (1) of promptly heeding the seven warning signals of cancer, and (2) of regularly obtaining health checkups.

Many Are Unaware

Yet, the recent National Health Test on television disclosed the alarming fact that 75 per cent of all Americans do not know at least three of the seven warning signals of cancer. One of three persons could not name a single warning sign.

The American Cancer Society urges all adult Americans to do two things to protect themselves against cancer:

Have a medical checkup annually, no matter how you feel. Learn cancer's seven warning signals and go to your doctor immediately if one of them lasts longer than two weeks.

This series of articles will explain the meaning of each warning signal:

Unusual bleeding or discharge.
A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere.
A sore that does not heal.
Change in bowel or bladder habits.

Hoarseness or cough.
Indigestion or difficulty in swallowing.
Change in wart or mole.

This series of articles on the Seven Warning Signals of Cancer has been prepared by Dr. Harri H. Janssen, chairman professional education committee of the American Cancer Society, Ulster County Unit.

For information on cancer, readers may contact the Ulster County Unit, 400 Broadway, Kingston, N. Y.

The physician in his investigation of abnormal vaginal bleeding or discharge may include pelvic examination, Pap smear test, biopsy of the neck of the uterus, scraping of the lining of the uterus. The most effective method for early detection of cancer of the uterus, in particular cancer of the cervix (neck of the uterus), is the periodic Pap smear test.

Bleeding from the rectum is a warning signal for cancer of the rectum and colon. It should not be lightly attributed to "hemorrhoids," "bleeding piles," "colitis." Blood may discolor the water in the toilet bowl a bright red, or soil the toilet paper.

Sometimes the blood is mixed with the stool. The stool may be dark or the surface of the stool is streaked with blood. Thorough medical investigation may include gloved-finger rectal examination, X-ray studies, use of proctosigmoidoscope, biopsy if possible, stool test.

Should Not Be Passed Off

Bleeding in the urine warns against cancer of the bladder or kidney. It should not be passed off for "infection," "Cystitis," or "strain." Its cause must be determined, particularly whether cancer is the source or not. Bloody urine may be pink, bright red, smoky. It may contain clots.

The bleeding in the urine even when due to cancer may come and go. It may clear up for a time and one should not be misled into a false sense of security by apparent stoppage.

Sometimes bleeding in the urine goes along with other symptoms like frequency of and discomfort on urination.

Bloody urine is usually the first sign of cancer of the bladder. In 50 per cent of cancers of the kidney, bloody urine is the first sign.

Examination of a person with bloody urine may require ureter test, gloved-finger rectal examination, use of cystoscope, X-ray studies, biopsy.

Other Signals

Expectoration coughed from the respiratory tract which is streaked or spotted with blood warns against cancer of the lung.

It should not be offhandedly assumed to be due to a "cold," "virus," "bronchitis," "allergy." Examination may include X-ray studies of chest, sputum test, use of bronchoscope, biopsy.

It must be stressed that when unusual bleeding is a warning signal of cancer, pain is almost never associated with it. Not bothered by pain, persons let weeks and months elapse despite the bleeding while the cancer, if that is the cause, has an opportunity to grow and spread. This ought not to happen.

REMEMBER: Take quick action at first sign of abnormal bleeding from any body opening or in any tissue. There are other causes for abnormal bleeding or discharge than cancer, but cancer should be thought of first.

Immediate medical attention might mean giving yourself and your physician a chance to save your life. Among certain common cancers for which abnormal bleeding is a warning signal, those of the uterus, bladder, kidney, colon and rectum, the likelihood of a hopeful result is on the average twice as great when the cancer is recognized and treated in a localized stage than when it has spread to the region outside the organ where it started.

NEXT: Warning Signal No. 2: A Lump or Thickening in the Breast or Elsewhere.

Faces Conduct Charge

Charles Naccarato, 16, of 75 First Avenue, was arrested last night by Patrolman Michael Levy on a charge of disorderly conduct. Naccarato was arrested after an incident at the Trailways Bus Terminal, Broadway, according to the patrolman.

A widow's mite was a mighty help, indeed.

In the 1930's, an educational organization in western New York was saved by an elderly widow's five dollars. The news of her gift, one she could ill afford, spurred a philanthropic fellow-townsmen to say, "I'm not sure I've done my share." He then increased his already generous gift by $35,000.

Few of us can save a college. But almost everyone of us, by doing his share, can help keep one going.

Give to the college of your choice.

Civil rights groups are among the new board's strongest supporters. Many religious and labor groups support the board.

Norman Frank, community relations counsel of the Patrol (PBA), which initiated the referendum, made an election eve prediction, "We're going to win this by a quarter of a million votes."

The PBA represents most of the city's 28,000 policemen. The board reviews charges of brutality and other complaints against policemen.

David L. Garth, campaign manager of the Federated Associations for Impartial Review, the main pro-board group, replied, "Mr. Frank's figure is as way out as his campaign. It will be very close and we're going to win it on the sleeper clause."

The PBA contends that the board lowers police morale, impairs the efficiency of the department and makes policemen afraid to perform their duty in some cases.

Supporters of the board cite the recent statement by the city's largest lawyer group — the Association of the Bar of the City of New York — that the so-called sleeper clause in the referendum could "virtually insulate the Police Department" from investigations of charges of graft and corruption.

BOWLING

Leoce Raps 722 Series

Steve Leoce blasted a 722 series, second highest of the 1966-67 season, with games of 223, 268, 231 in the Summit Classic League. It was three pins short of Jack Ferrell's leading mark of 725.

Six bowlers have now reached the 700 plateau this season. Ray Houghtaling set a new Tavern Association League record with 268 and tied another with 617. His other sets were 193-157.

Houghtaling's 267 eclipsed the 245 held by Jim Woods and the 617 equalled Jack Dawkins' record.

Anne Cummings picked up the rare 7-9-10 split conversion in the Monday Matinee.

Vince La Rocca led the City Minor with 632. Gerry Kearney's 630 paced the Mid-City Major.

Other leaders: Bea Albright, Women's Junior Major, 501.

Charles DeCicco, Independent, 584.

Mickey Burchins, Plaza Bowl Sunday Night, 587.

Dr. Kenneth Bremer, Weekenders Mixed, 574.

Charles Holt, Sunday Nites, 601.

Entry Deadline For Church Loop

All churches planning to enter teams in the YMCA Senior and Junior church basketball leagues must file rosters and entry fees at the Y by November 20, Physical Director Dave Peterson said today.

Senior games will be played Monday and Tuesday evenings at the M/JM school gym starting Nov. 28. Junior contests are slated at the Y gym on Saturday afternoons, beginning Dec. 3.

League referees will be Joe Uhl, Joe Klonowski and Peterson. Rod Chando and Jim Hutcheson will serve as scorer and timer.

Sports Briefs

NEW YORK (AP)—With New Orleans in as the National Football League's 16th franchise, Cincinnati is expected to be named shortly as the American Football League's 10th franchise.

One of the big items in Cincinnati's favor is a television market three times as large as Seattle, the other site that has been inspected.

Although the population of the two cities is virtually the same, the Cincinnati area shows 1,909,000 television sets to 658,900 for Seattle.

TORONTO (AP)—The Toronto Maple Leafs have sent left-winger Britt Selby, the National Hockey League's rookie of the year last season, to Vancouver of the Western League.

TEL AVIV (AP)—Israel's national basketball team leaves today for Antwerp, Belgium, where it will compete in the European championships before visiting the United States and continuing to Bangkok, Thailand, for next month's Asian Games.

Liberty Jaycee Team Tops OCS

Liberty turned five Ontario fumbles into a pair of touchdowns and spoiled the perfect record of the OCS Jaycees, 14-0, Monday in Boiceville.

The victors scored in the second quarter on a 22 yard pass play and they added their final marker in the fourth session on a one yard quarterback sneak.

Coach Dave Locassio's eleven reached the Liberty 17 but couldn't penetrate beyond that point.

Linebacker Paul Morey excelled for the home side.

Ontario is now 6-1 and plays Saturday morning at Marlboro.

Glaser, Pulver Hines Qualify

George Glaser's 681 blast led the scratch division in the Rheingold tournament qualifying round at Mid-City Lanes. He rolled 246, 198 and 237.

Jack Hines paced the handicap division with 606-49-655. His net scores were 187, 243, 176. Marie Pulver rolled 551 to lead the women's handicap class. She fired 452-99-551.

All three winners advanced to the district finals at Holiday Inn lanes, Wappingers Falls on Nov. 18-19-20.

Starlight Way Wins Roosevelt Feature

Starlight Way captured the $30,060 Lady Suffolk trot for 3-year-old fillies by a nose over Lady Jamie at Roosevelt Raceway Monday night.

Starlight Way covered the mile in 2:05 1-5 and returned $6.60. Meadow Janice finished third.

In featured races at other harness tracks across the state Monday:

Batavia Downs—Tartop Jimmy ($3.40) won the $1,200 pace by 2 lengths over Abbe Lark in 2:12.

Saratoga Raceway—Sword Demon ($20.80) took the $750 pace by a length over Pearl C. in 2:13 1-5.

Campanella Is IBM Speaker

Roy Campanella, a major league catching star with the Brooklyn Dodgers, addressed the 10th annual Kingston IBM Watson Trophy Dinner at which 270 athletes received trophies for championship efforts in athletic activities conducted by the Kingston employees IBM Club during the past year.

Campanella, a three-time National League MVP selection and All Star choice, told about his years in major league baseball and about the tragic accident which left him immobilized in a wheel chair while still a comparatively young man. He related some of the events that helped him regain his place in society after the tragedy happened to him.

Campanella played 1,215 games as a Brooklyn Dodger and participated in five World Series with the club.

Maroon Frosh Gain 14-0 Win

Scoring on the initial play from scrimmage the KHS frosh team closed the season with a 14-0 win Monday at Newburgh.

Coach Frank Modica's eleven put a punt in play on the Newburgh 45 early in the first period. On the initial play, quarterback Ricky Sorenson hit halfback Eddie Lee Adams with a scoring pass. Marshall Byrd ran for the extra point.

The score remained that way until late in the game. After the visitors had halted a Newburgh drive on the five, they moved 95 yards for a score. The TD was from 15 yards out on a pass from Adams to Byrd. The latter also made the extra point.

That final drive came after the four minute warning had been sounded. Byrd was the workhorse, picking up a pair of vital first downs. For the afternoon, he gained 97 yards in 11 carries.

Modica cited Byrd on offense and guard Ron White, halfback Bill Malsenholder and end Gary Bellows on defense. White was credited with nine tackles.

Kingston finished with five wins in six starts, the other contest ending in a tie. The team will be honored Thursday, Nov. 17, with a dinner at the Brookside Restaurant, starting at 7:15 p. m.

KHS Frosh lineup: Ends, Whitman and Harris; tackles, Rapp and Rhodes; guards, Primo and White; center, Polacco; quarterback, Sorenson; halfbacks, Adams and Byrd; fullback, Kachigan. Reserves: Ross, Sachoff, Altomari, Owen, Malsenholder, Pillsworth, Brady, Clausi, Faerber, Assion, Mayone, Bellows, Lupton, Stahl.

Compete and lose with dignity and good sportsmanship.

Explains IBM Role

Miss Margaret A. Volz, president of the IBM Club, presided at the dinner. She was assisted by Thomas A. Rizzi, vice president, who presented the winners. Tamke awarded the trophies.

As an added feature, Maurice A. Every, manager of the Kingston Systems Development Laboratory, discussed the democratic processes of elections and told how IBM equipment assists in tabulating results. He also explained how IBM equipment, particularly Kingston equipment from the display area, is being used by the major TV networks to provide the public with current information on the progress of the election.

The Right Rev. Monsignor John J. O'Reilly, pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Kingston, delivered the invocation. Music was provided by Flavio Castiglione and his quartet.

Kickers at Home For Sunday Tilt

A change in the German-American Soccer Association schedule gives Kingston Sport Club a home date against Stamford, Conn. next Sunday, instead of a trip to New York to play Kollsman.

Manager Bob Graves welcomed the change, as the Kickers are riding high in a five-way tie for third place in the 12-team circuit. And having some difficulty fielding its strongest team for road games.

The game at Oehler's Mountain Lodge starts at 2:30 p. m.

U.S. Net Team Out of Davis Cup

By JOE NOVITSKI

PORTO ALEGRE, Brazil (AP)—America's hopes for regaining the Davis Cup this year are ended, shattered by a stocky 25-year-old Brazilian tennis star who beat top-ranked Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., in a showdown match Monday.

Fans carried Jose Adison Mandarino around the court on their shoulders after his five-set victory over Ralston had climaxed a great comeback and given Brazil a 3-2 victory over the United States in the Inter-Zone Davis Cup semifinal.

It was Mandarino who defeated 19-year-old Cliff Richey of Dallas in the opening singles match, giving Brazil a glimmer of hope against the highly-favored American team.

But Ralston brought the Americans even when he whipped Thomas Koch and then teamed with Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., in Sunday's doubles victory.

That gave the Americans a 2-1 lead and put Brazil in a deep hole. A victory by either Richey or Ralston in Monday's final two singles matches would have clinched the semifinal series for the United States.

But Koch, who had been destroyed by Ralston in the opening singles, suddenly bounced back against Richey and whipped the tense teen-ager in straight sets, 6-1, 7-5, 6-1.

Ralston won the first and third sets 6-4, 6-4 but dropped the second, 4-6. He seemed to tire in the fourth set, losing it 4-6 and finally dropped the fifth set, 1-6.

Other UCCS runners and their times were: Barry Hopkins, 33rd place, 17:44; John Sullivan, 43rd place, 18:19; Ron Lindsay, 46th place, 18:30; Brian Elmendorf, 49th place, 18:43; Dave Loper 53th place, 18:54; and Joe O'Brien, 80th place, 21:36.

Overall, the Ulster team finished the season with a 6-2 record in dual meets.

Fights Last Night

WALPOLE, Mass.—Frank DePaula, 173, Jersey City, N.J., stopped Billy Crowder, 170, Petersburg, Va., 2.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — Paul Armstead, 146, Los Angeles, outpointed Johnny Brooks, 145, Henderson, Nev., 10.

Hogan-Edwards Bridge Winners

Mrs. Robert Hogan and Mrs. C. Russell Edwards of Kingston posted a 58 per cent game to win the fractional point game at the Glenierie Bridge Club.

Mrs. Andrew Dykes and Mrs. John Olivet of Kingston were runnersup with 54 1/2 per cent.

Doubt President Will Be First In Line Today

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson likes to be the first voter in this hill country town to cast his ballot. But facing surgery perhaps as early as Friday, he's taking it easy and says he plans to vote "when I wake up."

Still, nobody was betting that Johnson and wife Lady Bird wouldn't be at the polling place early.

The Johnsons vote at the stone headquarters building of the Pedernales Rural Electric Cooperative, a power-dispensing complex.

This year's election in Texas centers around the race for the U.S. Senate seat vacated by Johnson when he became John F. Kennedy's Vice President.

Conservative Democrat Waggoner Carr is trying to unseat Republican John Tower, another conservative.

There was no doubt where the Johnsons stood on the Carr-Tower race. The President sent a telegram to a Carr rally in San Antonio Monday night and said the Democratic candidate could count on at least two votes.

Gov. John B. Connally, an old friend and political ally of Johnson's, face hardly more than token Republican opposition in his contest for re-election. The President's congressman, Democrat J. J. (Jack) Pickel of Austin, seemed assured of another term.

Hart-Schaffner Eyes Jaymar-Ruby Merger

CHICAGO (AP) — Officials of Hart, Schaffner & Marx, makers of men's clothing, hope to effect by the end of the year a merger with Jaymar-Ruby Inc., manufacturers of men's slacks.

The two companies announced Monday that they had agreed in principle to merge. Chicago-based Hart, Schaffner & Marx said it would issue up to 405,000 common shares to the Michigan City, Ind., company for a controlling interest.

Hart Schaffner & Marx and its subsidiary, Hickey-Freeman Co., operate plants in cities that include Rochester, East Rochester, Buffalo, Hornell and LeRoy, N.Y.

Hart Schaffner had a consolidated net income of $8.1 million in the last fiscal year, and Jaymar-Ruby recorded a net income of $1.3 million in the same period.

Funds Missing

GREECE, N.Y. (AP) — Officials of Greece Volunteer Ambulance Inc. in this Rochester suburb say they found their bank balance was $42, not an expected $14,000, and have launched an investigation.

Tony Valvano, president of the ambulance service, said Monday the "apparent shortage" was discovered six weeks ago after the firm began receiving complaints from creditors about non-payment of its bills.

A check with the Marine Midland Trust Co. revealed that only $42 was credited to his company, Valvano said. An audit of the firm's records from 1962 to date is being made to determine the exact loss, he added.

The ambulance service was founded in 1959 and is supported by an annual fund drive among Greece residents and charges made to persons using it.

Friend's Hobby Going Too Far!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have a best friend I'll call "Agatha," who has come in for a lot of criticism behind her back because she takes when knitting everywhere she goes. People say Agatha is very rude because she sits in company, knitting away without even picking her head up or saying a word.

What they don't know is that Agatha knits all the time so she won't have to look people in the eye or say anything. You see, she is terribly shy, Abby, and self-conscious.

Please print this so Agatha's friends will understand why she knits all the time, and may be they will be more understanding and quit criticizing her.

AGATHA'S FRIEND
DEAR FRIEND: If you really want to help Agatha, tell her to leave her knitting home and to make an effort to contribute something to the conversation. She needs desperately to build her self-confidence. If Agatha continues to use her knitting needles for "crutches," she'll become even more socially handicapped.

DEAR ABBY: Someone gave me what is supposed to be a thoroughbred German police dog. I have the papers on him, but the older this dog gets the more he looks like a mutt. How about this?

WONDERING
DEAR ABBY: Don't be deceived by his looks. Maybe he's in the secret service.

DEAR ABBY: I am a recent divorcee with an unusual problem. My husband's parents are the most wonderful people I have ever known.

I couldn't love my own parents more than I love "moms" and "pops," which is what I've always called my in-laws.

Pops died when I was a child, and I divorced their no-good son, who must have been a throwback to the apes, but I won't go into that. I am welcome to visit their ranch any time I wish. As an ex-daughter-in-law, what should I call them? And how do I introduce the grand, generous people who once my in-laws? STUMPED

DEAR STUMPED: Continue to call them "moms" and "pops" if you wish. And introduce them by their names. And if, and when, further identification seems necessary, they are your "former in-laws."

CONFIDENTIAL TO ALL WHO HAVE SOMEONE IN VIET NAM: Place a five-cent stamp on a plain envelope and your letter will get there fast as AIR MAIL. DO NOT write AIR MAIL on the envelope, and DO NOT use a red, white and blue edged air mail envelope, or your letter will be returned to you for additional postage. P. S. And be sure to use the APO zip number.

Troubled Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069. For a personal reply, inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Heloise:

With so many viruses making the rounds, it's often necessary to disinfect.

Some of the best disinfectants can be bought either in spray cans or bottled.

For anyone who doesn't mind a little extra elbow grease to save a sizable sum, may I suggest buying the bottled type plus a push-type spray gadget.

You get the same effect—the desired amount of disinfectant here and you want it; and it goes much, much further without too much effort.

Sure saves on the budget.

Mrs. M. B.

Dear Heloise:

I've a new way to stuff celery. First you stuff the celery. THEN you cut it into smaller pieces.

My mother didn't even think of that.

I am 10 years old.

Darlene Heimforth

Darlene, you're a dolly, and you have proven that mothers can sometimes take a lesson from their children!

I used to cut the celery in small pieces, too, before stuffing it, but it is much easier and neater to stuff the whole stock and then cut it.

A hug and a kiss to you for sending us your hint.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I walk with a cane when I go out.

In order to have both hands free when I am using my pocket book, I have put a narrow, black velvet ribbon just below the handle of the cane, and made a loop that fits over my left arm.

Now I have both hands free when I need my purse.

Dear Heloise:

We found a way for our child to enjoy all the rattles he received as gifts.

Tied to the sides of his net playpen, they provided him with bright, colorful objects to look at and reach for.

Before he was old enough to sit or crawl, he loved to lie on his back and endlessly shake the rattles by kicking at the net.

Pat M.

Dear Heloise:

In large families, it pays to have a different-color toothbrush for each person — always buying the same individual color as toothbrushes are replaced.

Johnny will never forget, and will always use his red one. Pat's favorite color is pink. She, too, won't pick up any but her pink toothbrush.

I should know . . .

Great Grandmother

Grandmother, you really ARE great! Why not carry this idea there'd be no mix-ups among one step further and give each child a plastic glass the same color as his toothbrush handle? that line either!

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

My plastic garment bag split beyond repair, but I kept the metal framework.

I took some discarded flowered draperies, split them along the sides, and tore off the sun-faded part.

Out of the remaining good material, I made a bag to fit the metal framework—and presto—a new, dustproof garment bag. I had even salvaged the long zipper out of an old slipcover, and used that on the bag.

DO YOU TAKE VITAMINS AND STILL FEEL TIRED?

Here's How To Feel Stronger Fast

Have you been feeling tired and rundown lately? And do you take vitamins yet still feel tired? If so, your trouble may be due to iron-poor blood.

Vitamins alone can't build up iron-poor blood. But GERITOL can! That's because just 2 GERITOL tablets, or 2 table-spoons of GERITOL liquid contain 7 vitamins plus twice the blood-building iron in a whole pound of calf's liver. In only one day GERITOL iron is in your bloodstream carrying strength and energy to every part of your body. Check with your doctor, and if iron-poor blood is making you feel tired, take GERITOL, liquid or tablets, every day. Feel stronger fast—in 7 days—or money back from GERITOL.

'Air Revolution'

Special Unable To Do More Than Pinpoint Woes

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — The traffic jams that seem to be an insoluble problem on the streets of large metropolitan areas exist also in their crowded skies and on the runways of their airports.

NBC, in an hour special, "The Aviation Revolution," Monday night explored the problem but was unable to do much more than pinpoint the difficulties.

Public discussion of air safety is a touchy business. But for viewers who are nervous plane passengers there was considerable reassurance in the program as well as some cause for disquiet.

Careful Checks

We saw the careful preliminary checks before take-off on a Paris-New York flight. We saw the way assorted ground control stations and nine ships stationed in the North Atlantic helped guide aircraft to their destinations. We were assured by experts about the built-in safety of commercial planes. We were told that airline pilots can buy life insurance at the same rate as desk-bound business men.

But we were also alerted to the difficulties of air traffic control and the men who run them. Their main job is to keep two planes from running into each other and to get all planes safely out of the air. It is a tense job that showed on their faces as we saw them operating in the busy New York airport, an area traversed by more than 3,000 planes daily and where planes land at rush hours at 15-second intervals.

The program also took up the problems of finding land for additional jet ports, and of the jet noise problems, including the sonic booms of "jumbo jets," holding perhaps 1,000 passengers, of the future.

Old Favorites Rate

The latest national Nielsen ratings, covering the two weeks ending Oct. 23, were released Monday and established that the public likes its old favorites better than the crop of new shows.

The most popular show of the period was a CBS special, "Friends and Neighbors," with NBC's "Bonanza" and a Bob Hope comedy show in second and third places.

Other programs in the Nielsen top 10 were CBS' Andy Griffith Show, Red Skelton Show, Lucy Show, Beverly Hillsbillies and Jackie Gleason Show. NBC's Walt Disney Hour and CBS' Friday night reruns of old movies.

All three networks will suspend regular programming tonight to cover election returns, starting at 7 p.m., EST, and continuing until the important races are determined.

Attacked by Negroes

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two police officers were attacked by about 15 young Negroes with bottles and rocks in the Watts area Sunday after a Negro was shot in the hand.

Police said Richard Wilson of Los Angeles hit a policeman with a trash container then reached under his coat as if to pull out a weapon. The officer fired, wounding Wilson, 21, in the hand, police said.

The crowd surged around the patrol car and ripped out its radio microphone. They freed a man arrested in connection with an earlier shooting.

Wilson was booked on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon.

Health for All

Wrong Answers on TB

How well posted are the youth of this generation on basic matters of health? In case you wonder (and it's worth wondering about), you may get some indication from answers given recently by a panel of high school students to question asked by the public affairs director of a large radio station. Since the event took place at an annual meeting of the National Tuberculosis Association, some of the questions naturally centered about that often grossly misunderstood disease—TB.

Q. How much do you know about tuberculosis?

A. "The only thing I know is if you have it, you have to move to Arizona." (Wrong! Physicians have found that climate has little to do with recovery from TB. Drugs constitute the core of modern treatment.)

Q. Do you ever have tuberculin tests in your school?

A. Yes. A lot of kids are scared of them. They think the tests might show that they have TB." (Wrong two ways! It's better to find out early than to be "scared" of knowing. The earlier TB is found, the better the chance for effective treatment. However, a tuberculin test doesn't show whether a person has TB, but only whether he is infected with the germ. He may be infected without having active disease—that's something a chest X-ray helps determine.)

Q. What do you think causes tuberculosis?

A. "I think air pollution causes TB." (Wrong! TB is caused by a germ.) In other areas of health the youngster proved better, though not really well informed.

As to TB, there is a widely held notion that it belongs to past history. But 50,000 new cases each year prove this notion sadly untrue. For information about tuberculosis today, ask your Christmas Seal association for the free leaflet, TB, The Facts.

This column is sponsored in the interest of better health by Ulster County TB and Health Association, Inc., 124 Green Street.

Receives Medal

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Alan S. Boyd, head of the new Federal Transportation Department, is the recipient of Syracuse University's Harry E. Salzberg Memorial Medal for achievement in the field of transportation.

Boyd received the award Monday from William P. Tolley, university chancellor. Boyd, who has been undersecretary of commerce for transportation, was selected by President Johnson to move up to the new department, which will be the 12th in the Cabinet.

The award—winner called for cooperation by privately owned firms and governmental agencies to continue "to relate transportation to the total environment and the society it must serve."

Boyd issued that call, a spokesman for 320 bus drivers and mechanics appealed to city officials to eliminate taxes imposed on the Syracuse Transit Corp. as a means of ending a week-long strike.

The spokesman for Division Workers, said tax-relief would allow the company to offer higher wages without an increase in fares.

Mr. Smith (the bed-ridden man)—What are the chances of my recovering?

Doctor Gray—One hundred per cent. Medical records show that nine out of every ten die of the disease you have. Yours is the tenth case I've treated. Others all died. Statistics are statistics. You're bound to get well.

An obstinate man does not hold opinions, but they hold him.

A small toy was leading a donkey down the road through an Army camp. Some soldiers, thinking to have some fun, attempted to engage the kid in conversation. He wouldn't respond. Finally, one of them asked:

Private Jones—Why are you holding onto your brother so tightly?

And then the kid came right back.

Johnny (without blinking an eye)—So he won't run off and join the Army.

Modern television proves that people would rather look at anything than each other.

Two old farmers, who did not believe in unnecessary conversation, met one day. Surprisingly enough, one grew more loquacious.

Charlie—What did you give your horse when he had the colic, George?

George—Turpentine.

Two weeks later, they met again.

George—That is right, Charlie. I gave mine turpentine, and he died.

George—So did mine.

Vote for Chest

A gift constitutes a good and valid vote for the Ulster County Community Chest Campaign, Chest officials say. To date sufficient votes have been received to reach 79 per cent of the goal of $299,600.00, an increase of 10 per cent in the past week.

Since this goal represents the composite needs of all 13 agencies it is essential the full amount be obtained. Therefore, on Election Day it is appropriate to use this frame of reference because some agencies will have to discontinue services if all the goal is not raised and are therefore voted down.

Charles E. Raible, Chest campaign chairman asks each citizen in the Chest area to review and study the chest 13 agencies and their services. "Surely each one is essential to our community and worthy of a vote," he added. He further said "we can obtain the required goal if every citizen gives a vote. It is only one dollar per month and all salaried citizens and businesses give a vote of one half of one per cent or one day's income."

The Chest Fund Campaign started Oct. 1 and will continue until sufficient votes-funds are obtained. "Have you voted for the chest by making a pledge? Please send your pledge to the chest office in the Governor Clinton Hotel," Raible continued.

during a space walk and two stand-up exercises in which he'll extend the upper half of his body into space.

While performing simple tasks and pacing himself with frequent rests, Aldrin will attempt to determine what problems face a man trying to work in a vacuum in a pressurized space suit.

All Had Trouble

America's last three space walkers all had trouble during their excursions, primarily because of difficulty maintaining position in the weightless world. Two of the walks were cut short when the astronauts became fatigued doing simple tasks. The third was halted early because of a shortage of spacecraft fuel.

To help Aldrin move about outside, handrails, waist tethers and foot restraints have been placed along the Gemini craft and on the Agena. Two "work benches" have been built on the Agena and at the rear of the spacecraft where Aldrin is to make electrical connections, mate rings and hooks, and loosen and tighten bolts. The flight is to end Sunday afternoon with a splashdown in the Atlantic Ocean.

Holds Sound Values

Q "I'm in a quandary about the stocks owned by my son on duty in Vietnam. He may need cash when he returns and might want to sell his stocks. How would you handle the following investments: 10 General Motors bought at 108; 10 Jersey Standard costing 93½; 12 Chesapeake & Ohio and four RCA, both showing a profit?" N.R.

A) I know all too well how profoundly discouraging it is to ride through a bear market but I urge you to keep up your courage and your son's, too. His stocks were well-chosen for sound value. Although earnings are temporarily down for General Motors and his rail stock, this does not detract from the long-term merit of either. Latest earnings reported by Jersey Standard and RCA show a strong advance. Estimates for the full year are for a gain of eight per cent and 27 per cent, respectively. If there were any available cash, I would average down on GM and Jersey.

When your son returns home and becomes settled again in civilian life, he can make a fresh appraisal of his holdings. If possible, he should retain this nest egg and look for other ways to provide for any immediate needs.

Q "Is the word 'secondary' used in some other way than to designate offerings of large blocks of stock going up for sale?" G.M.

A) Yes, it may also be applied in a general way to fundamentally sound stocks, actively traded, which have not yet acquired "blue chip" status, though they may be trending that way. These stocks usually sell at somewhat lower price levels than the better-known blue chips, a fact which helps to build a market following. A strong market can sometimes push attractive secondaries to unrealistic price-earnings ratios.

(Copr. T-M, 1966 Gen. Fea. Corp.)Lower Draft Calls Could Solve Pressing Problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration's decision to reduce draft calls over the next four months eventually may solve two pressing Army problems: the huge backlog of untrained reservists and the failure to reach full combat readiness among U.S.-based divisions.

Pentagon sources said Monday the Army should be able to slash the reservist backlog — 133,100 as of last June 30 — to 60,000 by next summer. The Army training bases, officials said, should be training as many as 20,000 reservists a month by early next year. Right now the Army is scheduled to train only 7,000 reservists monthly.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara announced the cutback at a news conference Saturday. He said draft calls — which should average less than 25,000 through March, about half the current levels.

In past months the Army has been training more than 55,000 recruits a month but has been unable to reduce substantially the number of untrained reservists and National Guardsmen.

The large pools of untrained men have been a sharp target of congressional critics who contend the reserve program amounts to a haven for those men who otherwise would be drafted to fight in Viet Nam.

The eased draft calls, part of an over-all slowdown in the rate of troop deployment to South Viet Nam announced by McNamara Saturday, also could lead to the end of training duties for the 1st and 2nd Armored Divisions in Texas.

Despite Pentagon announcements earlier this year that all in-division training would be completed by October, officials said the two armored divisions are not expected to complete training until early spring. Pentagon sources said the divisions — normally considered part of the U.S. Strategic Reserve for emergency duty round the world — were forced to continue training because of the lack of training facilities as the Army strained to meet its heavy Viet Nam commitments.

Truck Fire Quelled

Firemen from Engine 1, directed by Captain Harry Sills, Monday confined fire damage to the wiring of a truck's engine when a short circuit in battery wires set the truck ablaze. Officials said the fire was reported at 3:45 p. m. in a diesel truck parked at the Kingston News Service, Greenkill Avenue. The truck, owned by the Monzel Trucking Company, was operated by Edward Hess, Newburgh.

INSTALLING YULE LIGHTS—Christmas lighting for the uptown shopping area is expected to be completely installed later this week, according to John Warren, executive director of the Uptown Businessmen's Association. Warren, noting the association would "prefer they were installed after Thanksgiving Day," added that the work, done by the G. A. Trahan Company, decorating specialists, must be done according to the firm's tight schedule. "But we do not plan to turn on the lights until the day after Thanksgiving," Warren added. He stressed that the association pays for both the installation and costs of electricity so there is no cost burden placed on the city whatsoever. The installation work, Warren said, began Friday. Sears Will Use Walter S. Almeda, manager of Sears Northeast Zone, from Boston, will be in Kingston to assist at the ribbon cutting.

While further discussing the unusual ribbon to be used during the ceremony, March pointed out that the flat cables conduct high frequency computer information and do it faster than the traditional method. He said its function might be compared to the flat round television lead in wire we are all so familiar with in our own television sets. "To give some appreciation of the amount of the computer information these cables can carry—imagine your own TV lead in wire ½" thick and 1" wide, compared to a cable 1/32 of an inch thick and 1" wide."

"And by the way—in case you didn't know—our friends at IBM in Kingston manufacture this essential product for the entire IBM corporation throughout the world. Sears, of course, is also internationally known," March added.

The new Sears has a total gross area of about 90,000 square feet with an automotive center that is capable of servicing 12 cars simultaneously. It is the first store in the company to utilize a colonial scene on the exterior of the building. Included in the store are 51 separate departments.

Store hours will be 9:30 to 9:30 daily, except Sunday. Automotive Center hours are 9 a. m. to 9:30 p. m. daily, except Sunday. Plenty of free parking is available at Sears and in the rest of the center.

Probe Halloween
Related Deaths

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson has ordered an investigation into the deaths of a 13-year-old girl and an auto worker, possibly connected with a Halloween prank.

Charlotte Hinton and Alfred B. Howey, 39, died of self-inflicted gunshot wounds, Oakland County sheriff's officers said. They lived in a nearby Orion Township subdivision.

Miss Hinton died last Tuesday after being questioned briefly by a deputy about paint that pranksters sprayed on mail boxes Halloween night.

Howey died Friday after, Bronson said, he got a telephone call apparently accusing him of turning in Charlotte and her friends. Sheriff's officers said Howey had made no complaint.

New Generations May Ponder
On Current Election DriveBy JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 1966 election campaigns were hardly intellectual — what campaigns are? — but the big political mystery of the year was that master politician, President Johnson.

Some day, although it's not in sight in our lifetime, political scientists will be kept busy reflecting on the 20th century American mind, the politicians' and the voters'.

Used Hand Shake

Instead of debating the issues exhaustively on television so the people could reach reasonable judgments on them and their ideas, the politicians spent much of their time trying to persuade the voters by shaking hands.

The explanation is simple: It's a way of keeping in the public eye and maybe the public mind. Since this is an ancient custom, it wasn't unique in 1966. Johnson himself has no equal in this field as "presser of the flesh."

Sir Winston Churchill understood the public eye bit very early as a young man who wanted to get elected to Parliament but first had to make an impression.

When he was on the Northwest Indian frontier in 1897 Churchill wrote a letter to his mother — it's in the just-published first volume of a three-volume biography by his son, Randolph S. Churchill — which said:

Rode in Open

"I rode my grey pony all along the skirmish line where everyone else was lying down in cover. Foolish perhaps but I play for high stakes and given an audience there is no act too daring or too noble. Without the gallery, things are different."

Still, it was strange to see Sen. Paul H. Douglas, Illinois Democrat and one of the truly intellectual members of Congress, waiting outside factory gates to shake hands with men he had never met and probably wouldn't again.

But it was all mutual.

People who might have voted more intelligently if they had spent more time studying the issues and what the candidates said, turned out in thousands to see the politicians and bowed one another over in the rush to shake hands with Johnson, or Sen. Robert F. Kennedy or some lesser light running for office.

Need Help

In Congress Johnson needs all the Democrats he can get. Even if the Republicans today capture 30 or so House seats, the Democrats would still have a majority and keep control.

But the fewer the Democrats, the harder it will be for Johnson to get his programs through these next two years. And his success with programs may affect his chances for re-election in 1968.

Nevertheless, although a lot of his Democrats needed help, he did extremely little campaigning for them and in October, as the campaigns reached their peak, he went off on a 17-day trip to Asia.

Since he undoubtedly could have postponed this until after the election, the unanswered question is: Why did he do it when he did?

Perhaps he thought the headlines he'd make every day as the American commander in chief around the world would do his Democrats more good than any number of speeches he might have made at home.

There's no evidence they did. But Johnson has a lot in common with Churchill. Both men sought fame and recognition all their lives. And Johnson, as Churchill did, loves a gallery.

Did You Ever See Integrity?

You're looking at it right now; Two examples of what makes the Smith Parish reputation: John F. Burns, vice president, and Mrs. Rene Lambert, chief bookkeeper. It's really not enough to have the best equipment, skilled workmen, and full knowledge of the latest in quality roofing and siding methods. A firm must have honest capable people you can rely on before, during, and after a job is done.

People have been relying on Smith Parish since 1932. When John Burns comes to give you a thorough and complete estimate, which is free by the way, he'll tell you exactly what Smith Parish will put into the job. He'll also tell you that the best roofing and siding isn't free, but it IS dependable. That's what integrity is all about.
